EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

LIVES of great men all remind us
We can make our own sublime;
For their children will be given
Appointments in a foreign clime,
Just like Fred Grant and Robert Lincoln.

THE Samoan hurricane is the successful rival of a Pennsylvania Blizzard.

POSTMASTER GENERAL WANAMAKER took occasion on Sunday last to make an address in favor of the Prohibition Amendment.

NOT many men would hesitate about taking the English Mission as Robert Lincoln is doing, nor refuse to take it as he may do.

THERE is more joy in the church militant over the accession of one rich man to the congregation than in the repentance of 5,000 impecunious sinners.

MRS. HARRISON is said to be suffering from an aggravated case of homesickness. She does not find the White House as pleasant a place to live in as her old home in Indianapolis.

EMINENT EDITORS (we have in our mind now Whitehead Reid and Murat Halstead should not accept governmental appointments. Their positions as editors are better than any places the government can bestow.

NOW IF GOV. BEAVER had only had two legs instead of one how nicely he could have balanced himself on one and with the other lifted that nose-pulling crank who assaulted him on Wednesday into an altitudinous sense of decency.

IT strikes us that the committee having charge of the centennial celebration of the Washington inauguration at New York city displayed considerable gall in suggesting to President Harrison to issue a proclamation to the people on the observance of the event.

THAT five prominent Republicans should combine to defeat the confirmation of Murat Halstead's appointment as minister to Germany is a shame, to say the least. What if he did criticise them in his editorials? It is strange indeed if men are to be punished because they speak fearlessly.

AS WILL be seen in another column a good slice of the allowance for river improvements goes to pay the salaries of the civilian engineers engaged on such work. West Point prepares engineers that have not proved their capacity to carry on such work successfully unaided by civilian engineers.

THE Prohibition Amendment offers an opportunity for every workingman to cast a vote which will greatly benefit him. Nine hundred million dollars are spent in this country annually for liquor, a large part of which is spent by the man who cannot afford it. Vote for Prohibition and place the temptation out of your way.

CORPORAL TANNER, the new Commissioner of Pensions, has been holding almost a continuous reception ever since he took charge of the Pension office. He has recommended a number of changes among the chiefs of divisions in that office to Secretary Noble, but he says that no ordinary clerk will be removed except for cause.

THE Senators gave as an excuse for not voting for the confirmation of Murat Halstead that if they did so it would imply that the harsh things he had said of them were true. We think otherwise and the Senators have decidedly given themselves away. Their rejection of him shows that they are angry at him because he told the truth and that they are only taking revenge.

WASN'T that a wonderfully cold robbery in Denver, Col? A man informs a rich business man that he wants a private interview with him on important business matters. He secures it in a private room in the bank. There the bank officer is compelled, at the point of a revolver, to fill out a check for $21,000, take it to the paying teller and procure the money. Part of this was done in the presence of several clerks, but nothing wrong was suspected. The man was alone in the accomplishment of this deed, and thus far has not been discovered.

VERY STRONG TESTIMONY.

It is often said that prohibition in Kansas and other states is a failure, that prohibition does not prohibit and can not be enforced. The following is the testimony of Governor Martin, Hon. J. J. Ingalls, and Attorney J. Bradford.

At the time the prohibition measure was adopted, the Governor of Kansas, John A. Martin, was opposed to prohibition, but its good results were so evident, that in July, 1887, he wrote a letter to the Associated Press, fully endorsing prohibitory law. The following is an extract from his letter: "Atchison abolished the last of its saloons in 1886. The wiskey interests prophesied that this would seriously injure the business of the city. It has had no such effect. Atchison is more prosperous to-day than it has been for many years past. Its wholesale trade aggregated over $40,000,000 in 1886, and during the six months of 1887 this trade increased fully 33 per cent over that for the corresponding six months of 1886. More substantial improvements are being made, and more buildings are being erected in Atchison this year than during any previous year in its history. Many important commercial and manufacturing industries have been located there during the past six months. Better than all, too, hundreds of thousands of dollars that were formerly wasted in saloons, are now expended in feeding, clothing and housing the people, and as a result, thousands of wives and children in Atchison who were living in poverty a few years ago, are now prosperous, happy and contented. The war to banish the saloons was for some years only partially successful. The Amendment has been adopted by a very meagre majority and the public sentiment in all our large cities was overwelming against it. As late as January, 1885, saloons were open in fully thirty of the larger cities of Kansas, including Topeka, the capital of the State. But steadily and surely the public sentiment against them spread and intensified. One argument of the whiskey interest, viz, that saloons promote the prosperity and growth of the communities, has been answered in Kansas by convincing logical facts." Below are statistics given by John A. Martin, Governor of Kansas:

Population of State,	996,096	1,405,738
Miles of railroad	3,104	6,208
Assessed valuation of property,	$160,891,689	$277,575,263
No. school houses,	5,814	8,500
No. churches,	2,914	3,500
No. newspapers,	347	700

Attorney General Bradford, of Kansas, says: "No criminal law on the statute book is so universally obeyed or so strictly enforced as the Prohibitory law, and convictions are more sure to follow than in any other criminal trials."

Hon. J. J. Ingalls, U. S. Senator from Kansas, says: "Prohibition is so rigidly enforced in Kansas that there is not an open dram shop or 'saloon' from the Missouri River to Colorado."

Presidential Appointments.

It is as well to state the absolute truth of one's opinions on political subjects. When President Harrison's cabinet was named we were not highly pleased with it, our criticism being that it contained men heretofore comparatively unknown, whereas we especially desired a cabinet which should contain the very best material in the Republican party. We were, however, willing to test the cabinet by its works, and it is thus far making a most excellent record.

The appointments since that time have been even more pleasing. All the foreign appointments have been of men who are representative and who seem to be especially adapted to the positions. They will represent the United States in a very brilliant manner.

THE President has been fortunate in filling the missions with men who can speak the language of the country to which they will be respectively credited. Palmer, who goes to Madrid, speaks Spanish well? Whitelaw Reid speaks French, Fred Grant speaks German and French fluently; Thorndike Rice is equally qualified; Mr Halstead, who may or may not go to Berlin, knows enough German to make known what he wants in lager beer saloons. It is probable that the South American appointees know Spanish, for this Mr. Blaine's idea that to speak Spanish should be deemed a prime qualification.

IF MR. CARNEGIE is willing Pittsburg will soon take the library he offered it, as Councils is about to comply with the conditions proposed by him.

REVERENCE FOR LAW.

The Pall Mall Gazette, of recent date had reflections on the conditions of affairs in America which contain such excellent sentiments that we copy them;

President Harrison's address contains passages which we welcome as full of sound sense and political sagacity. The portions of the address to which we wish more particularly to refer are those in which the President lays down very excellent doctrine concerning the duty of the state to enforce the law equally on all classes of citizens.

The reason why the Americans reverence law and enforce it without scruple is because the law represents the matured conviction of the whole community as to what is right. But when, as in the case of slavery, the laws of the state conflicted with right and justice, then the very life and salvation of the American Republic was found in a struggle against the law. The Highest Law is the only real law binding upon the consciences of men. If the law written in law books correspond with the Higher Law which is the law of God, by that law a nation lives. But if, as constantly happens, the progress of events renders the written law an anachronism and an injustice, then, unless a nation can readjust its written laws the Highest Law, that nation dies. The work of readjustment is the history of civilzation. When it is retarded, when the written law has become petrified, or when the natural forces which should transform it are artificially paralyzed, then there is decay and disease showing itself in a deep hatred of law as such, and culminating sooner or later in passionate outbursts of despair, of crime or of revolution. Wherever there is a nation where law is unpopular, there is a nation whose political constitution is rotten to the core. For law should be the highest expression of the national will, the most sacred embodiment of the conviction of the people. When it is not that, but is merely a foreign, arbitrary and unnatural legalization of injustice, then against that so-called "law" we are bound to rebel to the uttermost by our fealty to the Highest Law. What is the American Republic itself? It is the result of a revolt against law, due in reality to the extent to which the principles of English law had saturated the mind of our American colonists. Speaking of one of the battlefields on which the Americans won their independence, Lowell sang quite truly—

Here English law and English thought
Against the might of England fought.

And it is the same phenomenon which we are witnessing in Ireland to-day.

WHO IS CORPORAL TANNER?

A correspondent asks this question. To start right we will say he is the new Commissioner of Pensions. To go back to the beginning, we will say that James Tanner, which is he Corporal's name, was born in Scoharie county, New York. At the age of 17 he enlisted as a private in the Eighth New York Volunteers. For gallantry on the field he was made a corporal. A rebel shell at Bull Run tore away both of his legs, and his career as a soldier was ended. After months passed in the hospital cork legs were substituted for those of flesh. A clerkship in the War Department at Washington was awarded him. During his connection with the department he studied law, and in 1869 was admitted to practice.

Later on the Corporal became a clerk in the New York Custom House and rapidly rose to the position of Deputy Collector. He resigned to accept from Mayor Schroeder, of Brooklyn, the office of collector of taxes. He served through Mayor Low's administration, but was removed by order of Boss McLaughlin when Whitney became Mayor. Corporal Tanner afterward was a candidate for Register and Sheriff, but though he ran ahead of his ticket, was defeated. He is a most effective speaker, and has much ability also as an executive officer. While Collector of Taxes of Brooklyn he handled $60,000,000 of public money without the loss of a penny. He has been prominent in the Grand Army organization, and is an earnest advocate of more liberal pensions.

THE Pennsylvania House unanimously passed a resolution branding the assailant of Governor Beaver a coward and poltroon, wherein it showed itself a good judge of men. The name Arms is a byword and reproach in the mouths of all honorable men.

PALMER'S BUGLE CALL.

The Opening Address of the Chairman of the Prohibition State Committee.

HEADQUARTERS CONSTITUTIONAL PROHIBITORY AMENDMENT STATE COMMITTEE.

No. 929 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

You stand on the eve of a great battle. It will be as fierce and bitter as any that was ever fought by right against wrong. To you and to your children and your children's children the result will be big with joy or sorrow. Against you stands an enemy strong in numbers, unlimited in resources and inspired with the energy of desperation. You are to strive against those who thrive by the traffic in strong drink. They are the enemies of the State, the nation, the church and the home. They are the foes of virtue, peace, temperance and religion. Their business life is staked upon the issue and you may expect resistance to the last extremity.

You have the opportunity to decide whether sentence of death shall be passed upon this monstrous evil by writing its condemnation in the enduring lines of your organic law. Shall the people's law, the Constitution, forbid the manufacture and sale for use as a beverage of intoxicating drink? To you belongs the power to perpetuate or destroy and upon you rests the responsibility.

We call upon all, of whatever faith in religion or of belief in politics, of whatever race, color or habit, upon all who love their country, their children or their homes to rally for the conflict. It is non-sectarian, non-partisan and for the general well-fare.

Are you workingmen? The wages of labor are lost to the earner when deposited in the saloon. They are needed for food and clothing for children and comforts for the family. Banish the drink traffic and poverty among wage-workers would be comparatively unknown.

Are you business men? Seventy-five million of dollars are annually spent in the State for drink. If paid out for the necessaries of life every industry would feel a reviving stimulus.

Are you tax-payers? You pay five times as much as you receive from license money to hold criminal courts and support paupers, insane persons and criminals, the product of the saloons.

Are you Christans? The most deadly enemy of your religion, your aspirations and your hopes is the drink traffic. Under which flag do you march, that of the saloon or the church?

Are you moderate drinkers? The drunkard of to-morrow is the moderate drinker of to-day, and if you are strong enough to be safe your influence is needed to help weaker men.

Are you total abstainers? If you believe total abstinence to be the best for you, you must also believe it to be best for your fellowmen. Do not refuse to help those who have no power to resist the open door of temptation. Can you take a ballot from the hands of a saloon keeper and vote to perpetuate his business and keep your pledge to discourage the drink traffic?

Are you habitual drunkards? Help to smite the enemy that has robbed you of health, character and all that makes life worth living.

Are you fathers? If the traffic endures somebody's boys who are now growing up must be its customers. Have you any to spare for that purpose? Somebody's girls are blooming into womanhood to be drunkard's wives; a fate to which death is preferable. Have you daughters to give? If you are wise enough and strong enough to keep your own, some other family must give more than its share of children to be sent to dishonored and dishonorable drunkard's graves by the saloon.

Are you men? Then put away cowardly doubts of ability to enforce a law of your own making and strike a blow for purer government, cleaner politics and the everlasting overthrow of the worst business that ever degraded mankind.

Are you women? You need no exhortation to join the grand army of redemption, for on you falls the chief sorrow, the endless misery, the unspeakable degradation wrought by the drink traffic.

Come one, come all, bringing every persuasive argument, every moral power, every social, business and friendly influence. Give time and personal work to the great cause, and the 18th of June in this year of grace shall, God willing, ring the death-knell in this Commonwealth of the crowning vice of the country, and "as Pennsylvania goes, so goes the Union."

HENRY W. PALMER, Chairman.

COMMERCIAL UNION WITH CANADA.

On March 1, 1889, congress passed a joint resolution to promote commercial union with Canada. Commercial union means the adoption, by both countries, of the same tariff of duties upon goods coming from abroad, the abolishing of the long line of custom houses on the northern and southern boundaries of each government, and leaving the intercourse as free between Canada and this Republic as it is now between the states. The line of custom houses, for both countries, would follow the sea coasts, and the internal revenue system of taxes would be made uniform in both countries.

At present Canada levies a tariff of duties on all goods sold by us to the Dominion, the average rate of which is 23,75 per cent. In 1887 we sold to Canada $44,082,782 worth of goods. On that amount there was paid by our people, in the way of tariff duties, the sum of $7,265,135 78. Commercial union would lift this burden from off our manufacturers and producers, which, it is claimed, would increase our sales to that country to one hundred million dollars annually and to that extent giving an impetus to the business of both countries, whilst the domestic protective principles would remain as now.

Last year the U. S. collected from internal revenue and tariff $6.70 per capita of our population, whilst Canada collected from tariff and excise duties $6.65 per capita of her population, consequently a commercial union with that country, and the assimilation of the Canadian tariff with ours, would make no violent change.

The joint resolution as passed does not contemplate any action on our part for the present, leaving it entirely with the Dominion of Canada to say when she desires such a union, when the President is authorized to appoint three commissioners to meet those of Canada and prepare a plan for commercial union which the President shall lay before congress.

THE President is very much vexed, and most Republicans think he has a good right to be, on account of the Senate's rejection of the nomination of Murat Halstead, editor of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, to be minister to Germany. A few Republican Senators, on account of personal ill will towards Mr. Halstead, joined the Democrats under the leadership of "Standard Oil" Payne, of Onio, and succeeded in bringing about this rejection of the appointment. It will be strange if they do not all live to regret their action. And it will be stranger still if the Republican editors of the country do not resent this attempt on the part of certain Senators to establish a Senatorial censorship of the press, for there is no use to mince matters, that is just what the rejection of Mr. Halstead means. He was not rejected because of his inability to fill the position to which he was appointed with credit to himself, the Republican party and the country, but because in the conduct of his paper he has seen fit to express his honest convictions in its editorial columns, of certain things affecting certain Senators.

AT the last election in Pennsylvania there were 997, 786 votes cast for President, but there were more then that number of voters registered. Section 5 of the act prescribing the method of submitting to the people on June 18 th the proposed amendments to the Constitution reads. "The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall, at least twenty-five days before the election, furnish to the county commissioners of every county properly prepared and separately printed ballots. The number of ballots so printed shall be three times the number of voters in such county and be in equal numbers for and against the amendments and the ballots shall be accompanied by a printed circular of instructions, directing the form of all necessary blanks, tally sheets and returns, and directing that the vote upon the two amendments shall be cast and counted separately." The above means that for every voter in the State twelve ballots shall be printed—three for and three against the prohibitory amendment, and three for and three against the voter's qualification amendment, or 12,000,000 ballots in all.

Our Story Teller

THOMAS JEFFERSON ODELL

"It is a well known fact that no other section of the population avail themselves more readily and speedily of the latest triumphs of science than the criminal class,' said Inspector Bonfield to a Chicago reporter. 'The educated criminal,' he continued, skins the cream from every new invention, if he can make use of it. No safe has yet been constructed that keeps out the shrewd and determined burglar, and that's the way in everything. But I don't recall a case in which this truth was more brilliantly demonstrated than the Maxwell case :'

'What case was that ?' queried an old newspaper man present 'I don't recollect of ever hearing of it before.'

'No, I suppose you don't,' said Mr. Bonfield, musingly. 'The fact of the matter is, it never was a case that properly belonged to the department, but I can speak of it now. You see it was at the time when the telephone had just been introduced into business and private use. George Maxwell—that's not the real name, but it will do as well —was at that time one of the most successful speculators on the Board of Trade, and, was currently reported to have some time ago tipped the scale which marked the millions. He was a young and handsome man and he had just married a charming woman. It was an out-and-out love match. A score or so of messages were despatched every day during business hours. They contained such important queries as : 2.10 p. m. 'How are you lovey ?' And replies like this : 2.35 p. m. 'I sigh for you. How is my sweetest ?' Well, to save expense and to increase the facility of communication, Mr. Maxwell connected his office with his home on Ashland avenue by private telephone wire. He was one of the first men in Chicago to do so. About five out of six business hours were now spent by him at the 'nello.'

"One day just before the close of business there was a ring at the telephone. The devoted husband, with a jump, was there. "What does my sweet pet want ?" he murmured.

"I'm no pet. You mistake me, sir !" came the reply in an unmistakably masculine voice, a voice gruff and rasping, but very distinct.

"Who are you, then ?" asked the astonished millionaire,

"I'm Thomas Jefferson Odell, the accomplished burglar, if you want to know."

"Repeat, please," gasped the other.

"Odell, the burglar," came the answer over the wire.

"The devil !" exclaimed Mr. Maxwell.

"No, only one of his faithful servants. But, now, listen. I have no time to fool away. I and two of my pals have gained access to your house. The cook, the chambermaid and your wife are lying here bound and gagged. The nigger coachman has been disposed of. Some bundles of oily rags have been judiciously distributed around the house, ready to be ignited."

"You bloody scoundrel !" shouted the agonized husband, whose eyes were bulging during this recital.

"Don't excite yourself. Now, sir, here is my proposal. If you should disappear from the telephone without acceding to it, I shall set fire to the house. It's no use applying to the police for we'd be too quick for them. You will see, Mr. Maxwell, that you are completely in my power. The only sensible thing you can do is to listen to my proposal and agree to it."

"Oh, I wish I had my hand at your throat, you infernal villain !" shouted the millionaire, and with rage.

"But you know you haven't, so what's the use of talking that way ! Let us talk business instead. I need a loan of $20,000 cash. I need a loan at once. If you are inclined to lend me that sum without guarantee, I shall leave the house with my pals in exactly the same condition in which I found it."

"You are ruining me," groaned Maxwell. "And I don't think I have that much money in cash in the safe."

"You'll force me to commit an attrocious deed," came the remorseless reply.

"All right, then—yes, I'll pay, but to whom ?"

"It is now 2.15 exactly. At this very moment my pal has entered your office to receive the money. You will pay him and he will tell you the watchword agreed to between us, which you will telephone to me at once."

Mr. Maxwell turned around. A stranger of pleasant mien, dressed in the height of fashion, stood before him. Said the visitor, "I have called to collect a little matter of $20,000 for a friend of mine, Thomas Jefferson Odell."

'Correct !' replied Mr. Maxwell, who went to the safe, took from it two bundles containing ten thousand dollars each, and handed the money to the stranger. 'The latter ascertained that the amount was correct; then placed the money inside his two breast pockets.'

'And the watchword ?' questioned Mr. Maxwell.

'Do right and interfere not !' replied the burglar, with a great deal of dignity, and strode out of the office with all the grandeur of a Spanish hidalgo.

'Do right and interfere not !' joyfully shouted Mr. Maxwell through the telephone. 'And now you'll leave my premises, Mr. Odell, won't you ? And for my wife—'

'Have no fear, Mr. Maxwell,' replied the man at the other end. 'You have to deal with a burglar and a gentleman.'

'Mr. Maxwell locked his office, got into his buggy, and drove out to his house at a Maud S. pace. The more closely he approached the keener his fear of catastrophe became. But as he stopped at the gate he noticed nothing out of the way. He sprang up the stairs, two at a time, and entered the pretty boudoir of his pretty wife. She was quietly reading.

'You must have suffered, my angel !' he cried, and a sob shook his voice.

'The young wife looked up astonished.

'Suffered ? I ?'

'That burglar you know—it must have been awful ! Oh, you poor darling !'

'Why, George dear, what is the matter ? You speak in riddles'

'But didn't he gag you ?' he asked.

'Now, see here, George, I wish you would talk sense. What do you mean ?'

'After Mr. Maxwell had finished the recital of his adventure he asked :'

'Wasn't there somebody here using my telephone ?'

'Why, yes, there was,' replied Mrs. Maxwell. 'A young and well-dressed man came in, introduced himself to me as Mr. Thomas Odell, a speculator, and requested permission to make use of your private telephone to send you a message. Of course I gave him permission. He used the telephone but a couple of minutes and then came back into the parlor, thanked me for the favor I had done him and went away, saying the telephone was a very useful invention—it facilitated business so much.'

'And that was all ?' asked Mr. Maxwell; 'He didn't gag you and all the servants ? He was alone ? He didn't offer violence to you ?'

'Why, no ! He was very polite and gentlemanly—quite as much as you are at this moment, George.'

'Oh, the deuce !' exclaimed George, with a wild outburst. 'What an ass I've made of myself. Excuse me, pet, but I can't help it. I'll drive over and tell the police about it.'

'That's what he did,' concluded Bonfield, 'and that's the way I came to know about it. But after talking the thing over with me, and consulting the smartest detectives we had at that time, we came to the conclusion that there was no chance of recovering the money. The pair was too slick. And in spite of all we've done since then we've heard nothing more of the twenty thousand dollars, nor of Mr. Thomas Jefferson Odell and his pal.'

A New Puzzle.

No house is complete now without its pig pen and four little pigs. "Pigs in Clover" is the latest toy and puzzle, and it is having a great run. The puzzle consists of a circular block of wood, with a pasteboard rim around it, and three other paper rims in concentric circles inside of the outer one. Each of these inner rims of cardboard has an opening in it and the openings are on opposite sides. The inside ring of all is two inches in diameter, and is covered over. It is called the pen. Four marbles are placed in the outer division of the box. These are the pigs. The test of skill is to get them into the pen without touching them with the fingers. The box is manipulated in one or both hands, so that the marbles roll one at a time through the gates in the circular fences and finally into the inner enclosure.

They act very much like pigs, inasmuch as nobody can be sure of them until he has them all in the pen. He may get three in, and, while trying to put the fourth in, the others will run out. Anybody who has ever driven pigs will appreciate the toy, and if everybody who appreciates it has driven pigs it proves that there are thousands of pig drivers.

"Ah, Sambo," said a sick planter to his attendant Negro, "I fear I'm going, and I've a long journey before me." 'Neber mind, massa" was the encouraging answer, "he'm all down hill."

It is marvelous how the poor manage to live in New York through the Winter months. A late New York paper notes the fact that strawberries have advanced form $10 to $12 a quart.

"Thank goodness we're through," said the young American lady when she shut up her "Murray" after ascending the Rhine from Cologne to Mayence; "only I'm afraid we missed one castle on the left bank."

Mr. Bonanza J. Whittlestick : "Say, Duke, I'd like my boy there, M'inadab, to marry one o' your gals." His Grace: "Certainly, Mistah Whittlestick. I've no objection. Which girl does he want —the housemaid or the scullerymaid ?"

EASTER EGGS.

American Agriculturist.

The coloring and decorating of Easter eggs is a pleasant employment for the young people. It allows a great exercise of taste and ingenuity, and prettier decorated eggs make nice Easter favor to send to a friend instead of the more common card. Beautiful and really artistic results can be achieved with little money and the exercise of taste, care and patience. The first step is usually to boil the eggs hard. They should be put on in cold water, which should be allowed to come to a boil gradually; then the eggs must be removed. A disregard of this precaution is apt to result in cracked or broken shells.

Another way is to make a small hole in each end of the egg with a slender darning needle and blow the contents out. These egg shells are much more delicate and easier broken than the first mentioned. Still another method is to remove the contents and fill the shell with liquid plaster of paris, which soon hardens and makes a very substantial egg. The plaster should be mixed with water until it runs easily: If, after some plaster is run in the shell, a few shot are added, the egg will always maintain an upright position.

The most simple way to color eggs is to sew ribbons or calico that will fade around them and boil a few minutes. The skins of the dark red onion will color beautiful shades of yellow browns. Tuci will give shades of crimson, light or dark, according to the length of time the eggs are left in the dye. Indigo dissolved in water to which oxalic acid is added in the proportion of a teaspoonful to a quart of the dye gives a pretty blue. Names, dates and figures can be put in eggs after they are dyed by tracing the letters or figures with a fine brush or pen dipped in oxalic acid. To tint eggs any shade use oil paints of various hues. Roll a piece of soft cotton cloth into a wad, and with this rub the oil paint on the egg, being careful to take only a small quantity at a time on the dauber.

Any one who knows how to paint can decorate these tinted eggs very handsomely by putting on each some appropriate design or motto. For a blue egg a cluster of lilies of the valley or snowdrops are charming. Another very suggestive design is a leafless branch with a chrysalis attached and the released butterfly hovering near. It is wise to choose irregular letters for the motto; gold or bronze paint can be used effectively in putting them on. Eggs left uncolored and a simple design painted on the shell are quite satisfactory. A variety can be made by selecting light and dark colored eggs and different sizes, from the large egg of the goose to the tiny one of the bantam.

Experimenting With Ties.

Philadelphia Record : The Pennsylvania railroad company, which has been devoting considerable attention to substituting metalic for wooden ties, is likely soon to give a fair test to a invention. The tie is a steel rectangular shell, with wooden blocks directly under the rails. An aperture large enough to accommodate the rail is cut in the shell, so that the rail rests directly on the wood. The advantage of this combination of steel and wood is that the rail has the necessary cushion bed, while the wood is protected from the weather. It is impossible for the track to spread and the wooden blocks, or rail seats, can be changed without disturbing the ballast. It is said that the new tie will cost only about double the price of the ordinary wooden tie, and will last fully ten times as long. The probability is that the new tie will be given a trial somewhere on the New York division, where a mile of track will be laid with it.

Doing Up the English Language.

Chicago News.

But the prize, the champion, the worldbeating catch as-catch can wrestler with the English language steps forward, modestly slaps the floor with his hand, and afterward brooms the carpet with an Anglo-Saxon speech when he tackles the McCormick wedding at Monterey, Cal., yesterday. He catches his heels in the phrase St. Mary's-by the-Sea, and for a moment one thinks that he will get the worst of it. But no ! See, with deft foot he kicks the expression into the corner all in a tangled heap, seizes the language by the nape of the neck and shakes it as a dog would shake a rat. Hear the note of triumph in this: "The Mendelssohn wedding march took them to their carriages." How strong ! How picturesque !

One can easily imagine the bass notes of the wedding march taking hold of the members of the bridal party, grabbing them around the waist and "toting" them to their carriages. Wonderful ! The consummate grace should be commended wherewith the correspondent tells what a great catch Cyrus McCormick, Jr., was, and how he "was a shining light," all in the past tense, as who should say, with a snuffle. "Alas ! Cy was a nice boy, but he's kicked the bucket at last." Crowning all is the deft allusion to the fact than the only step the bride room made "ong root," as M. le Col. Mellill would say, was at Salt Lake City, where he got out and looked at the Mormon Temple. Isn't that delicate ?

THE SURPLUS IN DANGER.

The administration seems disposed to try to redeem the promises its party made during the campaign to divide the surplus among the old soldiers. Corporal Tanner has been interviewed as to his policy in the pension office, and he quotes the remark the President made during the campaign, that in measuring the country's obligation to the old soldiers, apothecary scales ought not to be used. He added for himself that he did not believe in the little pensions of $1, $2 and $3, and that every man who served in the Federal army, or his widow or child, should be taken care of in need, and when an applicant cannot made out a good case, Mr. Tanner believes the office ought to help him secure the evidence, without any more general pension legislation.

Mr. Tanner can, in the way he has indicated, increase the annual pension payments to more than $100,000,000 a year, and every Congress, does pass some general pension laws increasing rates or enlarging classes and adding a few millions to the total. The Republican Congress is pledged to pass, and the President to sign a service pension bill that would at the lowest possible estimate cost $50,000,000, and the Republican party is virtually committed to the removal of the restrictions, on arrearages of pensions, and the more moderate guessers for estimates put the cost of this removal at $300,000,000.

Two Homes.

We hope the working men that read this article will all endeavor to make their homes like the one first described.

"Let us look into contrasted homes, where the only varible element is the drinking habit of the head. The full wages of the Temporate man brings from year to year better food, better clothing, and better shelter. Improved sanitary arrangements tell on the health of the father, wife and children. The house becomes more and more a home. The passer-by notices the vines that cluster about the doorway, and the little flowers that peep through the windows. Upon the inside walls the picture speaks of a drawing taste, and the piano or some simpler musical instrument, shows that the daughter is adding a charm and refinement to the family circle. Books and periodicals show the surplus dollar. Every influence is elevating. Introduce the element of drinking, and you reverse the picture. Year by year the physical comforts of the house lessen. The tenement must narrow to the means, and locate itself in noisome neighborhoods. The wife first pinches herself in food and clothing, but the time soon comes when the children too, must suffer. The scanty clothing becomes ragged. The church and the school know the children no longer. No flowers of beauty adorn, no sound of music cheers such a dwelling. The fire goes out upon the hearth, and the light of hope fades from the heart. Soon the very form of a family is broken up, and public charity cares for the scattered fragments. An American home has been blotted out.

—JUDGE PITMAN.

Care of the Hair.

Frequent brushing of the hair is recommended for its improvement. The scalp should be made to glow with the vigorous use of a stiff bristle brush, and a thorough brushing before going to bed at night is considered to be of the utmost importance. This gives gloss and softness, and long hair is in special need of it. Sage tea was an old-fashioned remedy, wetting the scalp and preventing the hair from falling out, and it is still regarded as excellent. Ammonia and borax are both used as invigoraters of the hair, but they should be used only in small quantities, or they will do more harm than good, for too much ammonia will inflame the scalp, and too much borax will make the hair dry and brittle. Nor is soap good for the hair. The scalp may be cleaned with the yolk of an egg, beaten in a very little water and rubbed into the scalp, where it should be allowed to dry, and afterwards rinsed off with lukewarm water containing a little ammonia. After the hair has been wet it should be thoroughly dried before going to bed, and before going out in the open air. The scatching and irritating of the scalp with a sharp-toothed comb should be avoided, and the same danger is to be looked out for in the use of a metallic brush.

Only Half the Job.—Hobbs : "I understand that Dobson's wife is a German, and that he mastered the German language to win her." Jones : "Well, he must have expended all his energies on the language, then. He has never mastered her."

NURSE.—"We ought to have a piece of soft old linen to bind up Master Rupert's bruise." Young mother (anxiously) "Ought we, Barker ?" (To under-nurse) "Jane, go right out and buy three yards of the finest old linen you can get."

AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION proposed to the citizens of this Commonwealth by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for their approval or rejection at a special election to be held June 18, 1889. Published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Joint resolutions proposing an amendment to the constitution of the commonwealth :

SECTION 1. Be it Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That the following is proposed as an amendment to the constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof.

AMENDMENT.

Strike out from section one, of article eight, the four qualifications for voters which reads as follows :

"If twenty-two years of age or upwards, he shall have paid within two years, a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months, and paid at least one month before the election," so that the section which reads as follows :

"Every male citizen, twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications shall be entitled to vote at all elections :

First. He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

Second. He shall have resided in the state one year, (or if, having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen of the state, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months) immediately preceding the election.

Third. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

Fourth. If twenty-two years of age or upwards, he shall have paid within two years, a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election," shall be amended, so as to read as follows :

Every male citizen twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at the polling place of the election district of which he shall at the time be a resident and not elsewhere.

First. He shall have been a resident of the United States at least thirty days.

Second. He shall have resided in the state one year (or if, having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen of the state, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months) immediately preceding the election.

Third. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least thirty days immediately preceding the election. The legislature, at the session thereof next after the adoption of this section, shall, and from time to time thereafter may, enact laws to properly enforce this provision.

Fourth. Every male citizen of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a citizen for thirty days and an inhabitant of this state one year next preceding an election, except at municipal elections, and for the last thirty days a resident of the election district in which he may offer his vote, shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time be a resident and not elsewhere for all officers that now are or hereafter may be elected by the people : Provided, That in time of war no elector in the actual military service of the State or of the United States, in the army or navy thereof, shall be deprived of his vote by reason of his absence from such election district, and the legislature shall have power to provide the manner in which and the time and place at which such absent electors may vote, and for the return and canvas of their votes in the election district in which they respectively reside.

Fifth. For the purpose of voting, no person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence by reason of his presence or absence while employed in the service of the United States or the State, nor while engaged in the navigation of the waters of the State or of the high seas, nor while a student of any college or seminary of learning, nor while kept at any almshouse or public institution, except the inmates of any home for disabled and indigent soldiers and sailors, who, for the purpose of voting, shall be deemed to reside in the election district where said home is located. Laws shall be made for ascertaining, by proper proofs, the citizens who shall be entitled to the right of suffrage hereby established."

Eureka Coffee.

This well known beverage is an infusion of the roasted albumen of the coffee tree bill (Coffea Arabica), a native of Abysinia and Arabia, but now naturalized in many of the tropical countries colonized by Europeans.

There are a number of species of coffee, but this one only is known to possess valuable properties. The seed of Coffee Mauritiana prepared in the same way are bitter and slightly emetic. The gems belongs to the natural order Cinconaceae. It has a tubular 4-5-cleft corrola and a succulent fruit containing two cells, lined with a cartilaginous membrane, and each containing one seed. In a wild state the coffee tree is a slender tree fifteen to twenty-five feet high, with few branches. In cultivation it is seldom allowed to become more than from 6 to 10 feet high, and is made to assume a sort of the form of a pyramid with horizontal branches almost from the ground. The leaves are evergreen, very shining, oblong, and leathery. The flowers are small, clustered in the axils of the leaves, snow white; the whole appearance of the tree is very pleasing, and the smell of the flower is delicious. The fruit when ripe, is of a dark scarlet color, and the seeds are semi-cliptic and of a horny hardness. The seeds are commonly termed coffee beans, not however because they resemble in any respect the common bean, but from the Arabic word bunn. They are sometimes, but very incorrectly, designated coffee berries. The coffee succeeds only in countries where the average temperature ranges from 64 to 70 degrees F. In Peru and Quito it is acclimatized at an elevation of 6000 feet, where however, frost never occurs; but as it delights in a moist atmosphere, it nowhere thrives better than in tropical islands. Where the climate is dry abundant irrigation is necessary, but the supply of water is cut off as the fruit begins to ripen, in order to the improvement of its quality. The tree yields its first crop in the third year; the crop from a full grown tree may amount to a quart of coffee beans. As the coffee tree continues flowering for eight months its fruits are at any time of very uneven ripeness; in the West Indies, Brazil, and other places of same climatic conditions, there are three gatherings yearly. As equal care is not bestowed upon the preparation of it in all places, where it is cultivated, there are great differences in quality and price. The earlier history of the coffee tree is not very clear. It was not known to the Greeks or Romans; but in Abysinia and Ethiopia it has been from time immemorial; and in Arabia it was certainly in use in the 15th century, and over the rest of the East in the 16th century. Toward the end of the 16th century it was carried from Mocha to Batavia by a Dutchman, where it was soon extensively planted; and at last young plants were sent to the gardens of Amsterdam from which the Paris garden obtained a tree, A slip was sent from this last to Martinique in 1720, where it succeeded so well that in a few years all the West Indies could be supplied with young trees; then from those to Mexico, Central America, and the islands of the Pacific. The following sorts are particularly distinguished from each other in commerce: Mocha which comes from Arabia, Java or East Indian, Jamaca, Surinam, Bourbon, Golden, Rio, from Brazil, etc.

The employment of coffee as a beverage was introduced from Arabia into Egypt and Constantinople in the 16th century.

In Arabia and the East, coffee is not prepared as a beverage in the same way as in Europe. A decoction of the unroasted seeds is there generally drank, and for Sultans coffee the pericarp with the dried pulp roasted is employed. The great demand for coffee has led to the employment of a number of cheaper substitutes, among which chicory root is the best known in this country. Others of Dandelion root, Carrot, and the seed of yellow Iris, may be mentioned they are prepared by roasting like coffee; but all these substitutes lack the true, constitutents of true coffeee, caffeine and are therefore very different from it in their qualities.

In Sumatra the leaves of the coffee tree are used in place of the seeds. They are prepared by quick drying much as tea is cured, and in this state contains even a larger proportion of caffeine than the coffee seed itself. The use of this leaf may yet extend very much. We have however not received as yet a consignment of this leaf at the Eureka Grocery but we have the coffee bean of all kinds and degrees of excellence. We have a ground coffee (?) at 18 cents a pound. We do not claim that this is a pure article you cannot get a pure article at such a price now unless it would be of very poor quality or damaged in some way, but this is adulterated with some article as described above. We have also Arbuckles both red and black letter. The Edina, Bunola, Alaroma, roasted by a new patent process by "the Union Coffee Co. limited."

Willett's Favorite Coffee roasted and put up by Willett & Quimby. These are common grades. Of higher grades we have the best Java in the market, Mocha the very best, Old Mexican, Nicaragua all fine goods. A combination of some of these coffees make the finest flavored coffee in the world. In everything else as in coffee we aim to keep the very best goods in the market. We keep different qualities of course, but we sell all our goods for just what they are. If you want the best you can get it at the Eureka at as low a price as the same quality can be furnished by anyone and all goods guaranteed to be just as represented. Call and see us for anything you want in the Grocery line, no trouble to show our goods.

Bottom Facts.

The Washington letter from Kate Forte, the regular weekly correspondent of the Independent (New York), published in the issue for March 28th, 1889, contains the following tribute, which in view of the large amount of misrepresentation on the subject, should be as widely published:

"There was so much said in the Washington papers about the Pennsylvania militia, who were quartered in the Patent office at inauguration time, that it drew one's attention to the citizen soldiery, and made one feel that their conduct was typical of the young American of the present day, and of what his conduct would be in case he were ever called on to become a soldier in reality. The particular thing against them was that they behaved so ill in their quarters that the lady clerks coming for their usual duties at nine in the morning were sent home and had a holiday at the expense of the Government. In talking with one of these lady clerks yesterday she said, "I was here as usual the morning after the inauguration and passed through three of the four corridors which had been assigned to the soldiers, that ought to give one a fair idea of their condition and of the men. The floor was three inches deep with yellow mud—but that was all, and who was to blame for that, I should like to know, they or the weather? There was no defacement of the walls; the men respected the doors into the offices, many left them unlocked; they stood in groups talking as I and others of us clerks passed down the halls, and we heard no remarks, we got no uncivil looks, they let us pass as if we were on the street; their canteens and knapsacks were piled on the floor here and there, and their guns stacked at intervals along the walls; but it was like a well-conducted camp—and when you think how they were marched in after the parade, steaming wet and with no place to go to dry themselves, I think they did pretty well to settle and make the best of it as quietly as they did. Say it all if you can, said she, for it was too bad to have that paragraph go over the country, making a bad impression. The men showed the self-restraint that we want to see in those who will have to fight our next battles, if there are to be any, and they should have the credit.'"

—The question of what salary a congressman should receive is being discussed from numerous points of view. When the present salary of $5,000 is compared with that of other officials, it appears unreasonably small. This is more marked when the fact is noted that the congressman, unlike the cabinet officers or supreme judges, do not become permanent residents at Washington. They therefore cannot fit up permanent establishments and practice the economy of home life, but must follow the more expensive habits of transient visitor. While the congressman is employed officially for but ten months in his term of two years, it is evident that this ten months devoted to the service of his constituents practically robs the remainder of his time of the greater part of its value. No lawyer or other professional man can absent himself from his regular business for seven months of one year and three of the next without suffering a severe loss of practice and its incidental profits, regardless of the fact that his political office makes large demands upon his time even when not at the national capital. These losses are too great to be counterbalanced by the prestige of office holding, and should be taken into account when considering the compensation.

—The great Lick telescope at Mount Hamilton, California, has proven a success far beyond the expectations of the scientists. So marked has this been that already they are planning to erect monster telescopes which shall as far exceed this as it did all predecessors. The University of Southern California, a Methodist institution, has begun negotiations for a 40 inch refractor, and a bill has been prepared for introduction before Congress asking for over a million dollars to construct a 60 inch telescope, nearly double the size of the Lick instrument, therefore, possessing about four times its power. Ten years ago astronomers declared that the limit had been reached, and that the 36 inch glass of the Lick instrument would prove a failure.

—The appointment of the Hon. Robert Adams, ex-State Senator from Philadelphia, to the important post of of Minister of the United States to Brazil, is in every respect a most admirable selection. He is a gentleman of wealth, a lawyer of marked ability and made a most excellent record in the Senate, largely through whose efforts the "Bullitt Bill," or present charter of the City of Philadelphia, successfully became a law. He is a very intimate personal friend of our townsman, Gen. James Milliken, and we rather suspect that his recent active efforts in political circles, both in New York and Philadelphia, had much to do in securing this appointment to our State.

Col. Joseph W. Corning, who has just been appointed post master at Palmyra, N. Y., by President Harrison, was made postmaster at Ontaria, N. Y., by William Henry Harrison. Col. Corning was a bold warrior during the rebellion. He led the charge at Williamsburg without waiting for orders, and was thanked for so doing by Gener McClellan, who told him he had gained the day.

Mr. J N Bell's Champion Turkey Hen.

In this paper, in the latter part of February, appeared the following from the Huntingdon Local News:

"Mr. Luther Speck, of Penn township, has what he claims to be the champion turkey hen, for solid business purposes, in the country. From February, 1888, until February, 189, she laid no less than seventy-five egs. She began laying about the 1st of February, 1888, and laid forty-three egs. She then suspended operations in that line and hatched and raised a fine brood of ten or twelve turkeys. About the latter part of last November she began laying again, this time laying eighteen eggs. After a few days intermission she laid fourteen more, making seventy-five eggs, besides the brood of turkeys, as before stated, which she raised. This cetainly was not a bad year's record, and if there is any person who has the mean to beat it, Mr. Speck would like to hear from them. The turkey is one of the common country stock, and is what would be termed "half wild."

Under date of March 28, Mr. J N Bell, of Rock Spring, this county, writes as follows: "I saw in your paper a few days ago a statement from Mr. Luther Speck, of Huntingdon county, who claims to have the champion turkey hen. But I have a turkey hen that can beat Mr. Speck's and not half try. In the Spring she laid eighteen eggs and hatched out eighteen fine turkeys and I raised seventeen of them. Then when her young turkeys were six weeks old she commenced laying again and laid an egg every day until she had laid eighty-three eggs, making in all 101 eggs during the year, which will beat Mr. Speck's hen twenty-six eggs. The turkey hen is only one of the common country stock."

Our correspondent certainly has the most prolific turkey hen in the country and we do not believe there is another turkey hen in this part of the state that can beat this record.

Glee and Banjo Clubs Concert.

The concert given by the Glee and Banjo Clubs of State College, on Friday evening, fulfilled expectations. The audience was a very complimentary one, all the usual attendants at such entertainments being present, except such as were prevented from participating in amusements by the solemn religious season of Lent. The young gentlemen rendered all of the fifteen numbers in such excellent style that we shall not particularize.

The Glee Club is composed of J B Struble, W P Brew, G R Johnson, G C Butz, W H Walker, J C Mock, B W Demming, F W Spanutius, J M Walker, J B Walker, M W Bohn and G H Linsz.

The personnel of the Banjo Club is A C McClaugbey, F W Spanutius, G H Linsz, W P Brew, B W Demming, J B Walker, W H Walker, J M Walker and C H Atherton.

The Philharmonic Trio: F Peabody Atherton, J B Struble and F W Spanutius.

J M Walker is the business manager and George Meek figures in the capacity of advance agent.

We hope the people in Tyrone, Philipsburg and other localities where they are to appear will give them a very warm and enthusiastic welcome.

Why it is Cold on the Mountains.

Boston Budget.

Go into a greenhouse on a sunshiny day, and we find the temperature much hotter there than outside. The glass will allow the hot sunbeams to enter, but it refuses to allow them out again with equal freedom, and consequently the temperature rises. Our whole earth is in this way to be likened to a greenhouse, only, instead of the panes of glass, we are enveloped by an enormous coating of atmosphere. When we are on the earth's surface we are, as it were, inside the greenhouse, and we benefit by the interposition of the atmosphere; but when we begin to climb very high mountains we gradually get through the atmosphere, and then we suffer from the cold. If we could imagine the earth stripped of its coat of air, then eternal frost would reign over the whole earth as well as on the top of the mountains.

WHAT MR H I BUDD, CORRESPONDING SECRETARY OF THE BURLINGTON COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY, HAS TO SAY ABOUT THE MICROBE KILLER.

MOUNT HOLLY, Feb. 17, 1889.

RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER CO.

GENTLEMEN:—Until persuaded by a regular practicing physician, last October, to try William Radam's Microbe Killer, I had experimented with many different kinds of patent medicines, and had placed myself under treatment from several of our most noted physicians, in addition to which I visited many of the consumptive health resorts of the country, all in a vain search for relief from an inherited tendency to pulmonary disease, aggravated by attacks of pneumonia, congestion and inflammation. In sheer despair I tried your remedy, but shall ever bless the doctor who recommended it, for I am now entirely free from the racking cough that made life miserable; am improving in health and rapidly gaining in strength. My friends are so surprised at my improved condition that they almost weary me relating the story of my cure. I have suffered so much and seen so much suffering from this fatal disease that I feel it my duty to advise all to try what I believe has proved my salvation. Sincerely yours, H I BUDD.

THEY WANTED A REPORTER.

"When I was working on a St. Louis paper," said an old newspaper reporter over his midnight lunch, "I had a rather queer experience. I dropped into the office one evening after dinner and the city editor asked me to go up to—Chouteau avenue and see what was wanted. A card had been received asking that a reporter should call. I thought that perhaps there was a wedding, or something of that sort, and so I went to the house. I rang the bell. A young woman opened the door. "Step into my parlor, please," she said. I removed my overcoat and hat and entered the parlor. There were three young ladies sitting in the parlor, which was handsomely furnished. The young lady who opened the door followed me into the apartment. I sat down, and, to make myself agreeable, chatted about some conventional topics. All the young ladies engaged in the conversation, and before I was aware of it I found that an hour had slipped by. No one had said anything to me about what the reporter was required for, so at last I asked.

"Well, miss, can you inform me what it is that you wished a reporter for?"

"The young ladies at this all smiled and looked at one another. I thought that there was something interesting, and I finally asked boldly:

"'Well, I'm a reporter for the Democrat. What can I do for you?

"'Oh,' said the young lady who opened the door, 'I'm sure there is nothing.'

"'Well,' I said, 'why was the presence of a reporter desired?'

"All the ladies smiled and at last one of them said:

"'Why, Cousin Annie is engaged to a reporter, and, as we had never seen a reporter, we thought we would write to the office and have one call, so that we could look and see what sort of a person a reporter is.'

"At this naive reply I rather wilted, and as soon as I could I got out of the house. I often wonder now what sort of a rara avis those young women imaged a reporter to be."

Old Lady (to grocer's boy); "What makes the price on them potatoes so stiff, my boy?" Grocer's boy: "It's because there's so much starch in 'em, mum."

Most Unfortunate.—Simpson (tremulously): "Emma, darling, say yes, and there will be another——" Newsboy (outside): "Big breach of promise case! Extra!"

Wife to unhappy husband: "I wouldn't worry, John; It doesn't do any good to borrow trouble." Husband "Borrow trouble? My dear, I'm not borrowing trouble. I've got it to lend."

Mrs. Hayseed: "So young Wiggins is dead. I wonder what he died of?" Alonzo Hayseed [from college]: "I heard it was pulmonary phthisis." Mrs H.: "Land o' Goshen! and me thinking all the time the fellow had the consumption."

LIE 1. Time 11 a. m.—Mother—Now mind, Johnnie, there's a ghost in that dark closet guarding the jam! Johnnie trembles violently and commences to water at the mouth. LIE 2. Time 2 p. m. Johnnie—Oh, mamma! The ghost has eaten half of the jam.

An Open Question.—Governess—"Name the wisest man that ever lived." Little Dick—"Solomon." Governess—"Correct; name the wisest woman." Little Dick (after meditation)—"Well, if I say you, ma will get mad, and if I say ma, you will get mad.

Alphonse Karr was once present at a banquet of medical men, where toasts were drunk of certain celebrities, when the president said, "Monsieur Karr, we now ask a toast from you." The poet rose and replied modestly," I propose the health of all who are sick."

MODERN MINISTER'S WIFE.—You look worried, dear. Can't you find subjects that will interest the congregation? Modern Minister (gloomily)—It's easy enough to find subjects that will interest the congregation; the trouble is to find subjects that will interest the newspapers."

Stern parent: "Johnnie, I am informed that you use a great deal of slang. Is it true?" "Yes, sir." "And I have cautioned you against the vulgar habit scores of times. I once more warn you that if you persist in using slang I'll take that strap from the wall and you'll find yourself in the soup.'

Where larders are full—Young Tramp—"Let's break into the kitchen of that big house to-night and get something to eat." Old Tramp—"We wouldn't find much there. Them folks put on too much style. Git into the kitchen e' steady-goin' old fashioned folks of yer want ter strike a banquet."

Scene—A Toronto household. Mamma (to Edie, three and a half years, just home from her first morning at the kindergarten)—"Well, Edie, how did you like it?" Edie—"I don't like it a bit. The teacher put me on a chair, and told me to sit there for the present. And I sat and sat, and she never gave me the present."

THE FARM.

Real versus the Poetical—"Matthew Twain" Says that the Poetic Description of Farm life are a Delusion and a Snare.

Copyrighted, 1889.

There is a great deal written these times concerning the dear old farm and its broad acres of meadow land, its babbling brook flowing merrily along to join the river, and its ponds fringed with water lilies.

These poetical geniuses who touch on the subject rant and rave about the farmer's independent life, his fields of waving grain and golden harvests. They long for a whiff of the sweet scented clover and the perfume arising from the new-mown hay.

They draw from imagination a beautiful pen picture of the farmer's wife, his buxom daughters and sturdy sons.

They speak in a poetic strain of the sleek, gentle cow awaiting with tranquil eye the coming of the milk-maid with her shining pail, and go into ecstacies about the delicious cream and golden butter.

The lady writers usually add something about tilling the alluvial soil and harvesting the golden grain.

This sex, as a rule, dwell on the happiness and abundance of the farmer's life—how the apricot blooms before his door and the peach and plum yield of their abundance for his especial benefit. They long to become tillers themselves and spend their lives among the fields of waving corn, plucking violets and daisies from the grassy slopes.

Now, I am sorry to draw the veil of reality over this happy life, as pictured by the noble men and women who have never spent one day on a farm during the course of their whole lives, but I feel that justice demands this action on my part.

I have given the subject twenty years study, hence I write from experience.

I would not consent to write this article were it not for one reason. I see that the poetic side of the question is causing great misery to humanity. Merchants are leaving their stores, ministers their flocks and millionaires their railroads—all hastening away to the country to become tillers of the soil. They are dazzled by the brilliant picture of a farmer's life and leave their home for this new Eldorado—the farm. Hence, I feel that it is my duty to right this great wrong, so I will endeavor to give the facts as they appear to my unprejudiced eye.

Let us take one long, lingering look at the dear old farm and see just how dear it is from a financial point of view. Its broad acres are usually two-thirds covered by a mortgage, with a judgment exemption note held by the patent right swindler covering the greater part of the other third.

The only part of these acres not encumbered is the space occupied by the buildings; as they, as a rule, are kept from falling by resting against the mechanic's lien.

The meadow land consists of three or four acres of swamp and the babbling brook only comes and goes with the spring freshet; and then, instead of joining the broad river, it only manages to get as far as the farmer's cellar.

That pond is only a mud puddle and the water lilies are called poke berries by the country youth who is not at all poetic in his ideas.

Those fields of waving grain are not harvested in the cool sitting room, if I remember aright. Once in a great while they may be brought into the house to be cradled, but this is a rare occurrence.

The man or woman either who longs so ardently for a whiff of the new mown hay would soon get a sufficiency of the article if he or she were placed in the heated hay mow when the sun was sending down his rays upon the roof at the rate of about 100° in the shade, and the same individual would long just as greatly for a lump of ice or a whiff of some cool cellar.

Then again, I cannot understand how anyone can be so utterly devoid of feeling as to sit in the shade and eulogize the potato, when at the same time the poor farmer boy is doing his level best to keep down the measly bugs.

How any one can talk in a poetic manner about the sleek, gentle cow is more than I am able to understand. If they could see the farmer's wife as she manoeuvres around the self same beast for half an hour at a time and at last makes a frantic grab only to land under the manger with torn clothing and a broken jaw, they would appreciate the trials of the farmers and weep aloud every time they used milk.

If they could see the farmer's buxom daughters going with that milk through the different stages necessary to produce that golden butter, they would not be so hard on their grocer when he sends them a poor article of the kind. Because if you do succeed in keeping the cats away while straining the milk, and the rats away while the cream is rising you will be sure to either scald the butter or let the pigs upset the churn before the butter comes.

These persons have no heart for justice, or they could not possibly mention the delicious sweet peas. They either don't care at all about the subject or they do not know what an effort it costs a poor boy to bring the brush two miles on a hot day in order to train the same vegetable.

The poetry concerning the lowing herd would lose its interest for these writers could they see the good old Christian farmer going out on Sunday morning, dressed for church, to feed the calf, and could they hear his heavenly remarks, as the timid animal with a jump and a snort, blows about two quarts of bran mash and milk all over his Sunday clothes.

They would also lose interest in the farmer's sturdy son if they could see him, with a dime novel in his hand, looking through the cracks between the boards of the barn while his worthy sire is doing his level best to kick that miserable calf and keep from swearing at the same time.

That illusion concerning the farmer's independent life would soon vanish if they were acquainted with the facts of the case.

Why, there is nothing independent about his life—he is humbugged, swindled and cheated at every turn. The average farmer dare not turn his head to note a passing stranger or he will be called upon at some future time to pay a note for some patent right which the man had covered up under the seat; and notwithstanding all the efforts made by the county papers, in his behalf, he is constantly being bitten by some one.

If he does manage to hide the moment the lightning rod man comes to his house, he is sure to be caught the same day by the Bohemian oats swindler.

He is safe only when asleep and even then he cannot rest for fear some one will wake him up to go for the doctor for a sick neighbor.

Where is his independence? Why the market man will allow him only half-price for his produce and then cheat him out of some of his change.

The cold weather kills his fruit; the wet weather rots his potatoes; and the dry weather injures his corn crops. So, you see, the very elements work against him.

If he has two or three bushels of wheat left over after he pays for the cutting and threshing, his barn is sure to burn down before he gets the surplus to the mill and he finds that the insurance policy ran out two hours before the accident occurred. Or if this is not the case they refuse to pay his loss because when he threshed his crop the steamer stood two inches too near the building.

His hogs, as a rule, die of cholera about two days before butchering time, and to make his woe complete, he is called upon to pay a note, given at the bank by a neighbor, who had asked him to endorse it just as a matter of form.

The statement concerning the alluvial soil will deserve a little mention. That man, who can deliberately sit on the fence and see the farmer with his plow fast on a rock and the handles striking the poor fellow on the ear, ribs and shin at the same time, and then go home and write a long article concerning the alluvial soil is a villian and deserves severe censure, if not punishment.

Merchants, ministers and millionaires stick to your legitimate business. Sell your cheap muslins, convert your sinners and build your railroads; but do not be led astray by what you hear concerning the farmer's independent life. It is a delusion and a snare.

The surest means to rid yourself of that distressing cough is to use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. 25 cents.

CANCER.

I am satisfied that Cancer is hereditary in my family. My father died of it, a sister of my mother died of it, and my own sister died of it. My feelings may be imagined, then, when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant Cancer, eating inwardly in such a way that it could not be cut out. Numerous remedies were used for it, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the family. I took Swift's Specific, which, from the first day, forced out the poison and continued its use until I had taken several bottles, when I found myself well. I know that S S S cured me. MRS S. M. His Right Ear.

I had a rising on the inside of my head behind my right ear, which grew so bad that the flesh sloughed off. It was lanced—swelled again and was lanced the second time. I took S S S which forced out the poison, the discharge being copious. As soon as the poison was eliminated the sore began healing, and in a short time was perfectly well. S S S has cured me of this dangerous trouble which was supposed to be incurable. J. R. BULLOCK.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.,
Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga

—Greensburg Press: An accident of a terrible nature occurred at McGuire's crossing, near Donahoe, Westmoreland county, Friday afternoon about 2 45 o'clock by which Mr. David Long, a farmer, who lived on the Christopher Yates farm, near Pleasant Unity, met a horrible death. He was moving from the Yates farm to the Jerry Kimmell farm, near George's Station, and was crossing the railread at the point above named, when mail express came thundering along and before Mr. Long could get across, or the train could be stopped, the front end of the wagon was struck by the train and Mr. Long and both horses were instantly killed. The wagon was utterly demolished and the furniture scattered along the track for a considerable distance. The train was stopped and the remains taken on board and conveyed to Latrobe, where they were prepared for burial. Mr. Long was about 60 years of age and leaves a family. The horses were literally cut to pieces and were buried near where the accident occurred.

THE little progressive spirit that China has shown an inclination to develop of late has been brought to a sudden halt. The plans for the extension of the Tientsin-Kaiping railroad to Pekin have been blocked. The Emperor has forbidden further proceedings by the company, and the loan offered its projectors by the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank has been cancelled, and the proposals for rails and cross-ties have been rejected. This has been brought about by a combination of the oldest surviving brother of the present Emperor, the tutors of the Emperor and the leading men of the six boards of the Government which have all influence with the Emperor. The few other civilized enterprises, it is expected, the conservative combination will block in the same manner. China seems bound to hold to its stupid conservatism for many years to come, in which it differs from Japan, which is becoming Americanized, or Europeanized, with astonishing speed and immensely to its advantage. In another generation China will be left so far in the rear by Japan that there will be no comparison between the two countries. After all, the blood in each of them is telling. The Chinese are mongols or Turanians, a totally different race from ours, but the Japanese are a branch of the same Aryan stock to which we belong, and possess similar capacities to ours, and consequently are quick to see wherein we are superior, and eager to possess themselves of the means that will put them on the same advantageous footing with ourselves.

Judge George C. Wing

of Auburn, one of Maine's prominent lawyers, and for several years the Chairman of the Republican State Committee was troubled with boils on the back of his neck in their worst form, resembling carbuncles. Three bottles of Brown's Sarsaparilla completely cured him, and now Judge Wing speaks in the highest praise of Brown's Sarsaparilla.

The long sought for remedy for spring lassitude has been found. Entirely free from the noxious alcohols, it is compounded of these ingredients which extended medical experience has proven to be the most potential in their effect upon the kidneys, liver and blood, and, unlike the common "spring medicines" with which the market is flooded, its effect is not only immediate, but enduring. No stronger evidence to this effect could be offered than the voluntary testimony to its virtues of men of the character and position of those whose names appear with their willing permission through all our works. Men, women and children alike can take it with safety and to ladies who are peculiarly susceptible to that tired feeling at this season of the year we advise the use of Undeservedly Laughed At.

The unthinking are prone to make game of nervousness. Yet this is a very real and serious affliction, the harassing symptoms of which are rendered all the more poignant by ridicule. The stomach is usually responsible for these symptoms—its weakness and disorder find a reflex in the brain, which is the headquarters of the nervous system. As a nerve tonic and tranquilizer, we believe that not one can be pointed out so effective as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. In renewing vigorous digestion, it strikes the key note of recovery of strength and quietude by the nerves. Headaches, tremors in quiet sleep, abnormal sensitiveness to unexpected noises—all these modify and ultimately disappear as the system gains strength from the great tonic. Dyspepsia, billiousness, rheumatism, constipation and kidney complaints are subdued by the Bitters.

Work at the Edgar Thompson Steel Manufactory.

In an address to workingmen at Braddock, on Saturday evening, Mr. Andrew Carnegie said, among many other things, the following:

If you have read the newspapers, you will know that out of 13 mills engaged in the manufacture of steel rails in this country not more than three are running to their capacity. Only one mill in all the West is making rails (North Chicago), and I am sorry to say that even that one will not be able to run continuously, for they have no orders ahead.

What has the sliding scale enabled us to do at Edgar Thomson? It made us feel that we are prepared to make any sacrifice to give steady employment. The price—four pounds of steel for a nickle—leaves profits to the average mill in this country out of the question. But you have a steady employment. I rejoice to see that, owing to the increased capacity of the mills, your aggregate wages are even higher than before. You have to work harder, no doubt; but, in these times, the owners have to work harder also.

In this connection you have read a great deal recently of a vast combination in steel making formed in Chicago. I have no desire to underrate the importance of that movement, nor of $5,000,000 to be applied to the building of works for plate-making, structural shapes and all the various forms of steel. I have expected such action for some time. There is nothing surprising to me about it. I have told this community, and I have labored for years to impress it upon the railroad companies of the State, that the latter had made it possible by heavy reduction of rates upon material destined for points beyond the limits of the State, to manufacture a ton of Bessemer steel pig iron just as cheap in Chicago as it can be manufactured in Pittsburg. There is no question about this. It is a matter of figures which I have given, which no man has ventured to contradict, and which has been publicly corroborated by Mr. Stewart, General Freight Agent of the Pennsylvania Company. I am credited with having said that the South was to be Pennsylvania's great rival; but what I said was that it was to be the chief competitor for foundry iron in the Eastern district of Pennsylvania. The South will not trouble Pittsburg. Our competitor is not in the South, but in Chicago.

—On Sunday evening Rev. Dr. Monroe preached the sermon in the Presbyterian church, the last he will preach here before his departure for Altoona. The congregation was very large. The sermon was one of his characteristically fine efforts. He chose his text from Acts 1:8, as follows: "But ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you, and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jarusalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria, unto the uttermost parts of the earth." It was a discourse to show that Christian life and power are becoming constantly more and more the greatest influences of the world. The speaker dwelt learnedly upon the extent to which knowledge has reached its great triumphs. Reforms, he says, must be entire or not at all. He quoted Bacon in support of this view, and said that the position of the temperance reformers who would endorse moderation in the use of alcoholic drinks is illogical. His further arguments, presented in the most forcible and eloquent language, proved the advance and substantial triumphs being made in Christianity. It is bound to achieve success. In all literature the spiritual questions are becoming most prominent and will be correctly solved. The sermon was another proof of the Doctor's ability to preach discourses of the highest order. He is, by all odds, the ablest minister in the Central Pennsylvania Conference and the people of the First M. E. church, Altoona, are peculiarly fortunate in securing his ministerial services.

The Sugar Valley Railroad.

From the Sugar Valley Journal.

There is no doubt but that the proposed Bellefonte and Eastern Railroad from Watsontown to Bellefonte to traverse through Sugar Valley will be built at no far distant day. Messrs. J. I. Higbee, Superindendent of Construction, and H. E. Richter, Chief Engineer, called at the Journal office on Tuesday and assured us of this fact. This will be gratifying news to all interested in the project. The subject is being favorably discussed on all sides, and signs indicate something substantial. A corps of engineers are now in the valley locating the line. Through with that work the company expect to begin to build the road bed, preparatory to lay the ties and track; then lookout for the iron horse and smoke wagon.

—The unanimous verdict of those who attended the Glee Club concert seems to be that Mr. E. Hemenez, the pianist is a performer of far more than the average ability. The young gentleman, we believe, is a Spaniard. His home is in Costa Rica, Central America. Having in his family large landed possessions he is seeking, by thorough education at an industrial school, the best method to make his possessions profitable. He has had the best possible advantages in musical education, being a graduate of the conservatory of Paris as well as of other prominent musical institutions. His performances were the principal features of the concert and music-lovers were delighted. He combines delicacy and beauty of touch, infusing into the music a depth of feeling which was charming and which won golden opinions.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F J Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F J Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

—The mild winter and the early spring had a tendency to make the hens get in their work and the result is an overstocking of the egg market. In the New York markets eggs sell wholesale from 8 to 11 cents per dozen and in Philadelphia they are held at the latter figure. The price is lower than any eggs have touched for many years.—Ex. New York should send eggs this way as the price here is by no means too low for our pocket.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. GOFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

SINNEMAHONING.

Which is in Cameron county, Pa., and Means Sin-no-More—A Good Place for a Doctor to Locate—Barclay & Bros. Lumber Job—Quinn, Sherman & Co.

This has become quite a business place and some very fine dwellings have been erected. We have four good stores, two hotels, shoe manufactory, millinery store, barber shop, blacksmith shop, wagon factory and one church. Thus you see we enjoy all the necessaries as well as some of the luxuries of civilization. A good farming country surrounds us but we have no doctors to attend the ills that mortals some times fall heir to. If we had a doctor then we would be happy. As it is, we dare not get sick for fear we might not recover. Consequently, have to dispense with that business Can't you send us a doctor, as one could make a good living here, and then you know, we would be in fashion.

Barclay & Bros., located here, manufacture from five to six million feet of lumber annually. Quinn, Sherman & Co., built a new saw mill last summer and will do a large business this summer. Mr. George D. Johnston, of Mt. Eagle, your county, has taken a large contract from this firm as well as other Centre county citizens.

This firm owns a large tract of Hemlock timber on Wykoff Run and will employ, the coming season, some five hundred men. This company is also building some four miles of railroad to bring its logs and bark from the tract.

The Fountain is a welcome visitor and is eagerly sought after upon its arrival, and is voted by all hands the best journal published in Pennsylvania.

MOUNTAIN BOY.

Gardening for Ladies.

Make up your bed early in the morning; sow buttons on your husband's shirt; do not rake up grievances; protect the young and tender branches of your family; plant smiles of good temper, and reap a crop of health and happiness; root out the causes of nervous debility and "female weakness," by the use of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a sovereign specific, and thousands of the fair sex bless the day they first heard of it. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

To cleanse the stomach, liver and system generally, use Dr. Pierce's Pellets.

—Here's an item from the Conference News: "Rev. D. S. Monroe, D. D., the Secretary of the Conference, is also the Secretary of the General Conference. He has served the Church for 20 years as Secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Conference. A remarkable coincidence took place during the year. He was secretary of a Quarterly, of a District, of an Annual, and of the General Conference, and is fully able to transact the business appertainining to his duties in each Conference named."

Druggists tell us that the best selling article with them now, is Laxador. Only 25 cents.

Why suffer sleepless nights when your baby is not well? You can buy Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup at all drug stores for a quarter of a dollar.

—A genius for invention is evidently pervading this part of the State. There are two inventive Centre countians to report this work, viz, J. P. Findley of Blanchard P. O. (Eagleville,) who has secured a patent on an "index," and W. R. Moore, of Unionville, to whom a patent for a wagon jack has been granted.

WANTED.—A good girl. Small family Good wages. Address at once, Box 225 Bellefonte, Pa. 13tf

St. JACOBS OIL

TRADE MARK

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR PAIN

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

UTTERLY HELPLESS AND CURED.

PROMPTLY.

The "St. Louis Post-Dispatch" says: "Mrs. Phebe Rice, 1208 Madison Street, states that for the past seven years she had been a sufferer from acute inflammatory rheumatism, which had affected the muscles of the hands, contracting them so badly she could not comb her hair, hold a needle or pick up a pin, and rendered the lower limbs so helpless she required crutches to move about. During ten months she was obliged to carry the right hand in a sling.

PERMANENTLY.

"A single application of St. Jacobs Oil, she said, made her a firm believer in its virtues, as the effect was instantaneous and she was greatly benefited. The continued use of it brought her to the happy condition in which the reporter saw her, with the free use of her limbs and in perfect health—cured. She can now run up and down stairs, she said, and her hands were as useful in every respect as they had been before she began to suffer, seven years ago."

THE PRICE.—The best always first and cheapest. The best is the promptest, safest, surest, most permanent. The benefits are beyond price. St. Jacobs Oil is the best.

—About two years ago an editor and printer named Frank A. Baker came this way and renewed his acquaintance with the town. He stated that he had lived here forty years before and this was his first visit. He stayed at Garman's hotel. We concluded that he did not have much of this world's goods and it was evident that his usefulness as a printer or editor was ended. After being here a short time he went to Altoona to take an editorial position on the Times. He was there only a short time and since then we have not heard of him. The Lock Haven Daily Democrat is now advertising for him. It is stated that a letter has been received at Williamsport, from the Pension department, for him. Relatives of his live in Williamsport. A letter, giving information regarding him, and addressed to Dr. E. H. Baker, Williamsport, Pa., or Joe W. Furey, Lock Haven, Pa., will be a great favor to his friends.

—Hon. A. A. Barker, of Ebensburg, who went South for the benefit of his health, is said to be seriously ill.

—In some nearby localities there was said to be thunder and lightning with the snow storm of Sunday morning.

John M. Ward has about decided to give his valuable base ball services to the New York club again this season.

—The property of the Young Men's Christian Association will be moved to their new rooms on Allegheny street this week.

—The Bellefonte Council will not be apt to make any great extension of water pipes this year, as economy and reform is the motto.

—The concert of the State College Glee Club in Huntingdon on Saturday evening was much enjoyed by the people of that place.

—The Episcopal choir is practicing Easter music which is said to be delightful, especially the soprano parts as rendered by the younger boys.

—A young man in Curtin township, who accidently took a dose of lime on Tuesday in mistake for magnesia, is said to be in a precarious condition.

—Two Russian Jews—Mox Ezereky and Hass Leatzky—were arrested in Philipsburg on Monday morning on the charge of robbing a clothing store. In default of bail they were brought to this place and placed in jail.

—The special session of court is now monopolizing attention of those interested in legal proceedings. The insurance cases of the old Lycoming company are being tried, and it is believed that no other business will be taken up.

—The Grand Castle of the Knights of the Golden Eagle is in session in Harrisburg. Sir Knights John A. Grenoble of Spring Mills and Bion Williams of Port Matilda are in attendance. Governor Beaver reviewed the grand parade today.

—The report that a marriage license is not valid outside of the county where issued, is not correct. There is no such restrictive clause in the law. A license is good wherever presented, and any properly authorized minister may perform the ceremony wherever called on to do so.—Ex.

Mr. Charles R. Clements, who will be pleasantly remembered as at one time manager of Valentines Stores in this place, during the early existence of that establishment, was in Bellefonte, on Tuesday. Charley was very popular and seems to have retained all the elements of attractiveness.

Arthur Brown is particularly jubilant over the boom in the town in Washington Territory (now Washington State) where he has made real estate investments. Every week witnesses an addition of several thousand to the population and each new thousandjadds a few dollars to the value of property.

—The Y. M. C. A. hall was thronged with people on Sunday afternoon, the largest number that has gathered in the room on such an occasion for a long time. The attracting influence was the presence of the young gentleman's orchestra and the fact that the meeting was public. We are sure that all were delighted with the orchestra as the boys play very skillfully and with artistic effect. The exercises throughout were interesting.

DEATH'S SHINING MARK.

In Memory of a Lady who Recently Died in Pine Grove Mills.

We find the following in the Williamsport Banner. It is in memory of a lady whose death has already been recorded in this paper:

Rarely is one called upon under such circumstances to announce the death of a friend or acquaintance as that of Mrs. Harry B Long, wife of Rev. H B Long, formerly of Williamsport, which occurred at the residence of her mother at Pine Grove Mills, Pa., March 21. Mrs. Long, daughter of Mr. John and Mrs. Rebecca Robinson, was born at Hecley Furnace, Pa., November 15, 1868. In 1874 she moved with her parents to Marble Rock, Ia. Early in life she exhibited an exceptional fondness for study, and it was soon learned she possessed an extraordinary natural talent for the art of music, which was highly disciplined. She attended the Female College of Dubuque, Ia., and held throughout the course of study a high place in her class. She was a most attractive and accomplished woman. In the winter of 1884 she was converted and united with the M E Church, becoming at once a most useful member, the performance of all Christian work being her highest delight. After an acquaintance of about two years, she was married to Rev. Harry B. Long, July 1, 1885. She possessed the rare qualities of mind and heart that eminently fitted her for the deeply serious work of a minister's wife. The graces of the spirit were edveloped in her in most beautiful proportions, her words and actions being always consistent with her Christian spirit and religious disposition. In social and religious circles she was cheerful and kind, and all felt the sweetness and gentleness of her spirit. To know her was to love her. In the early part of December she was called from Belmond, Iowa, to see a seriously ill father who died December 28. Her death was unexpected and sudden, but the "relentless reaper" found her prepared and waiting to be called. It is difficult to be reconciled to such a death of one so young, so generous, so noble and Christ-like, and we wonder why one of such virtues was not spared longer to do more good by her faultless example. Her mother, sisters and brothers and two little daughters, and her husband, whose heart is grief-broken, mourn her loss. Appropriate funeral services were conducted in the M. E. church by Rev. Wm. Laurie, D. D., assisted by the writer. A large concourse of people was in attendacce. Thus ended the last tribute of loving respect to the noble young wife of Rev. Long

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

—Major Arms, a military crank in Washington, assaulted Governor Beaver on Wednesday afternoon in the Riggs House, that city. When Governor Beaver refused to have anything to do with him he rudely and violently pulled the Governor's nose. Governor Beaver attempted to punish the fellow by striking him with his crutch, but he escaped and was ejected from the hotel. The fellow has a bad record. He was cashiered from the army. Because of his disgrace he was also prohibited from taking part in the inaugural parade. This caused him to write an insolent letter to Governor Beaver. The fact that Governor Beaver refused to notice the letter enraged Arms and he took the first opportunity to insult the Governor. We have no doubt that Arms either has been or will be soundly thrashed for his insolence, and we would advise him to keep out of Pennsylvania, if he would escape with a whole bone in his body.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. H C Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at W C Keplinger & Co's Drugstore.

—The newspapers are having a lively time discussing the appointee to be post master in Philadelphia. We have already announced it to be Mr. Field, but the average newspaper report is very confusing and if we are to believe it the appointment has not yet been definitely made. Mr. Quay advocates the appointment of Mr. Leeds, because of his prominence as a politician. We hope, however, that Mr. Wanamaker will adhere to the appointment he evidently had in mind—that of Mr. Field—as the probabilities are that he would give Philadelphia a model postal service.

A Temperance Address by Rev. T. A Long.

The people of Howard borough and vicinity, without regard to sect assembled in the Evangelical church, Sunday evening, to hear a discourse on temperance by Rev. T. A. Long, who has been absent in Michigan most of the winter engaged in his high and heavenly calling in the service of what is known as the Dunkard church. Many of his neighbors went to hear his eloquence and by their presence, welcome him back to his home; while others, attracted by the nature of his discourse, were anxious to know how this "peculiar people," who do not enter into politics, would act on the great question now before the people of this Commonwealth.

The reverend gentleman's remarks were based on I Corinthians 6:10—"Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God." To say that he handled his subject in a masterly way is putting it lightly. For one hour and a half the large assemblage listened attentively to the flow of eloquence and reason as it fell from the speaker's lips, and those halting between two opinions were, no doubt, fully persuaded as regards their duty to God, neighbor, self and country.

Dr. Theel, Philadelphias renowned Specialist for nervous debility, blood poisons, kidney and special disease has cured more cases than all others combined. He has cured cases pronounced incurable by leading physicians. We would advise those suffering to consult him personally or by letter at his office, 538 North 4th street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Death of Mr. Isaac Gray.

In the death of Isaac Gray, which occurred on Tuesday last, Half Moon Valley loses one of its best citizens and the county one of its most successful farmers. He had been ailing for years from an affection of the lungs, and although his case was known to be hopeless, death was not anticipated at the time by either family or friends. He was a consistent and devoted member of the Methodist church, a good neighbor, a devoted husband and affectionate father, and will be sorely missed in the community of which he was a leading member. He leaves a wife and three daughters, who have the general and generous sympathy of all in the hour of their deep distress. His funeral will take place on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Everybody Likes

to be called handsome, especially the young ladies. But that is simply impossible as long as their face is covered with pimples, blotches and sores. But wait, there is no need of this; one or two bottles of Sulphur Bitters will remove all such disfigurations, and make your face fair and rosy.—Fannie Bell, Editress.

—A writer has the following unique remarks on the subject of what many people write "cold slaw." Noticing a recipe for "Kauldslauh," it occurred to me that I might enlighten readers as to the meaning and original spelling of that word. It is composed of two Dutch (Holland) words, and signifies a salad made of cabbage; kool (pronounced cole) means cabbage; sla (pronounced slaw) means a salad, and the proper name in Dutch is "koolsla." It is simply prepared; the cabbage is shaved fine, seasoned with pepper and salt, and then with a little vinegar is heated in a pan until the cabbage is wilted. I have seen it written in recipe books as "Cold Slaw," the word cold being used as the opposite of hot, and in that sense must have been taken from the sound and not the meaning of the word.

Bellefonte's Reputation Abroad.

In one way or another Bellefonte continually forges to the front and secures more desirable prominence throughout the length and breadth of this country than any other place of its size. For one month past Mr. and Mr. John M. Ward have been the reigning sensations, the grand particular stars. For years they have been prominent so that their names were known to all, but of late they have occupied as much space in the city papers as do Mrs. Langtry or Mrs. Potter or even the President of the United States. With which base ball nine Mr. John M. Ward will connect himself is of vastly more consequence than was the question who would be minister to England. It seems to be certain that the club which has the advantage of Johnny's services will capture the pennant, and we are pleased to see that the good looking ball tosser estimates his skill at its real value and hesitates long before he makes a final decision. Helen Dauvray, as an actress, was excellent, but only since she became Mrs. Ward has she become actually famous, and the arrangements for her to again appear on the stage attract very much attention.

The particular pleasure this proceeding affords is the eclat, the glamour of greatness, which it reflects on Bellefonte. Having given judges, foreign ministers, governors, etc., to the country at large, and having narrowly missed the Presidency, it is only a pleasing variety to have our citizens excel in other avocations. It shows a soundness and completeness to the genius which Bellefonters are supposed to possess and proves their ability to excel in any pursuit which they attempt.

—The attack, or attempted attack, on Governor Beaver at Washington is one of those affairs which one does not care to refer to often because it evidently pleases the cowardly scoundrel (Major Armes) to give him publicity. But it is due Governor Beaver to add that he denies that he allowed Major Armes to touch him and very successfully warded off his attack. We notice that Gen. Hastings says that he alone was responsible for Major Armes' expulsion from the inaugural parade and that the fellow was aware of it and yet when Gen. Hastings was in Washington, Armes was afraid to say a word to him. This shows that Armes attempted to attack Gov. Beaver only because the latter could not resent the insult so easily and give the fellow opportunity to escape without punishment.

—Mr. Mylin offered a concurrent resolution in the State Senate Friday morning, which recites the failure of the commission created by the Legislature of 1887 to investigate the condition and management of the charitable, correctional and other institutions of the State supported in whole or in part by State aid, to properly perform its duty, and creates a new commission of three Senators and four members of the House to investigate said institutions, inquire into the method of keeping accounts, the purchasing of supplies, &c., inquire into the system of management which prevail in other States, and report by bill or otherwise to the next Legislature Agreed to.

—The Watchman's article Friday morning in reference to the sentiment on the prohibition question in Huntingdon county is mere balderdash. The sentiment there is more favorable to prohibition now than at any previous time. The local prohibition which that county has had decreased crime as is proven by the Court records. Though it cannot constitute a fair test, because the means of procuring whiskey are much easier than they would be were prohibition to prevail in all parts of the State. Reports we have received in reference to the sentiment of the people is that they are almost a unit in favor of the Amendment.

—The legislative bill which proposed to make the wild game the private property of the owner of the land has been quietly squashed. It was too ridiculous even to have found recognition in the legislature and the individual who proposed it must have been a veritable crank.

—Mr. Geo. Simmons, who resided near this place, died on Tuesday evening at 6.30 o'clock. He was 83 years of age and was very well known to all the older citizens of Bellefonte. Several sons survive him and are well known citizens of this community. The funeral services were held at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon

—Misses Lula Harper and Lydia Harris of Bellefonte, upon whom the undisputed distinction of being the "handsomest young ladies of Centre, Clinton, and Lycoming counties" has been given accompanied by Miss Evans one of Lock Haven's interesting belles drove to our town on Tuesday and spent the day in this place.—Centre Hall Reporter.

—Mr. John A. Miller, Jr., of this place, departed Friday for Millheim, where he will remain for some time. Mr. Miller is a first class young man and is very much liked by all who know him. Our Millheim friends will find him as honest as the day is long and very worthy in every respect. We hope Mr. Miller will be pleased with Millheim and will enjoy his life there.

—It's about time Harrison went to Bellefonte to start up the nail works—that's what he was elected for.—Centre Reporter. Why, Mr. Reporter, the nail works were started up many years ago and have not stopped since then, but will become more lively than ever as soon as the good effects of Harrison's reign are apparent. If Harrison comes this way we'll send him over to infuse some commom sense in the Reporter.

—A small boy drew a large book from the Presbyterian Sabbath school library last Sunday. After reading a few pages a gentleman asked the little fellow what the book was about. "It was about a woman," he replied. "What kind of a woman?" asked the elder. "Oh, about a woman who was satisfied," said the lad. We have not learned the name of the book, but it must be a remarkable volume, and all the male members of the Sabbath school will be in quest of it for their lady friends to read.

—The Watchman, despite the fact that people have declared against the free trade policy now being felt so deplorable in this country, continues to protest against what it terms "a 47 per cent. tax upon articles necessary to the comfort and subsistance of" the people. There is and can be no such tax for the reason that this country is abundantly able to manufacture or produce all the necessities of life and enough for the millions of other people in other countries. We can manufacture and produce such necessaries better and more rapidly than elsewhere in the world, so what do you mean, Mr. Watchman?

MT. EAGLE ECHOES.

Pleasant and Pertinent Paragraphs about People and Passing Events.

J. K. Boney returns thanks to the many kind friends who assisted him to dig his cellar on Saturday. Mr. Boney purchased the lot from R. P. Long and he has lumber delivered and ready for building a new house. He expects that it will be completed and ready for occupancy about the last of May.

C. N. Leathers and Austin Reeder have formed a partnership and engaged in the poultry business. For first-class Leghorns, call around to L. R. & Co., Main street.

Mr. Antis Yearick visited his sister in Bellefonte, spending a few days in the county town.

Mrs. Haines, who started on Monday to visit relatives in Clinton county, will be gone for several months.

One of the twin children of W. T. Leathers, Jr., has been seriously ill for a few weeks, his ailment being an attack of pneumonia.

We hear that Geo. D. Johnston is very sick, but have not learned the nature of his sickness.

Mr. Jno. Leathers Jr., the popular teacher of the Kennedy school, very sensibly varies the exercises. On the afternoon of the 15th inst., he and his pupils paid a visit to the Mt. Eagle school, both schools enjoying the occasion and deriving profit from an exchange of experiences.

J. B. Leathers is enlarging his handle factory.

The condition of Mrs. R. C. Leathers is about as usual. She receives very many callers and always has a welcome smile for each one.

Mr. David Girthoof, who has been farming for Curtin's, has rented the Doughman house and expects to move this week.

Measles have invaded this community and at present two children in the family of Mr. Heverly and one in Mr. Leathers' family are thus afflicted.

Mr. P. Vanhorn is recovering slowly, but we regret to state that Mrs. Vanhorn is at present having poor health.

John Vanhorn saw his best girl on Saturday night, but John evidently forgot himself for he did not get back until Monday.

Rev. Headley went to Flemington to hold meetings on Sunday, and returned here on the following Monday.

In Memory of Rev. Alfred Yeomans, D. D.

The Session of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church, at their meeting on Monday, adopted the following feeling tribute to the memory of the late Rev. Dr. Alfred Yeomans:

BELLEFONTE, PA., Mar. 25th, 1889.

It having pleased the Great Head of the Church to call from work to reward Rev. Alfred Yeomans, D. D., who was for two years pastor of this church; therefore,

Resolved, By the session of the Presbyterian Church of Bellefonte, Pa., that we deeply mourn the death of one who by his able pulpit ministrations and kind and faithful pastoral care won the hearts of this people;

Resolved, That, while we bow in humble submission to the will of God, we recognize in the death of Dr. Yeomans a great loss not only to the church at Orange, N. J., and to ourselves, but also to the Church at large, thus deprived of his wise counsel and efficient co-operation.

Resolved, That, feeling the loss of a cherished friend and brother, we deeply sympathize with the bereaved family called to part with a loving husband and father, whose tender heart and cheerful spirit were a joy to all around him.

Resolved, That these resolutions be inscribed in the records of this Session, and published in the Church papers and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

WM. LAURIE, Pastor.

JAMES HARRIS, Clerk of Session.

—A dispatch says that when the news was first published that Minneapolis, Minn., was to have a twenty-eight story building, many persons disbelieved it, but the scheme is about to materialize. The plan shows the outline of 728 rooms, all of which open from the interior court, and every one of which has a window in the exterior wall. The plans are drawn for a building eighty feet square at the level of the sidewalk, and tapering a little toward the top, which gives it the general appearance of a lofty tower with almost countless loopholes. The court within is scheduled to be 40x40 and in the middle of it sixteen elevators are outlined to lift the tenants to their offices in the sky. The building will be 350 feet high and perfectly fire proof, being of iron, with a thin veneering of brick or terra cotta.

—Rev. Owen Hicks, recently of Duncansville, Pa., has been transferred by the M E Conference to Penns Valley in this county. This is certainly favorable to Penns Valley as Rev. Mr. Hicks is a minister of wonderful energy and progressiveness. Rev. Hicks always makes a great record and leaves behind him enduring memorials of his presence and work. For instance, in his recent charge he erected two churches and a parsonage, paying for both of them in clear cash. He is also an able preacher and finds time to do a great deal of other good work. The Methodists and all others in Penns Valley are of course very good people and are making rapid strides in the path of true religion, but now that they will have Brother Hicks with them they may prepare to wake up in a more lively manner than for a long time before. If there are any dead bones over there some new life will be infused into them.

Howard News.

Wm. Bland, our novelty merchant, moves to Lock Haven next Monday.

James Heverly, Jr., is expecting a visit from his best girl next week.

The Howard Band serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Spangler on last Saturday evening.

Mr. Zack Werrick, our expert cabinet maker, purchased a new organ and on last Monday night his musical friends held a soiree at his house.

Robert Neff has purchased a splendid horse, which will haul him and Mrs. Neff at a 2.50 gate.

George Thompson, our butcher, will move his meat market into the rooms now occupied by Wm. Bland.

Maurius Miner will move his jewelry store into the rooms, on Walnut street, now occupied by Wm. Thompson.

Harry Bitner and family returned to Ohio to embark in the hotel business with his brother-in-law.

Harry Leathers was home on a short visit this week. Harry is always a welcome visitor. He is an agent for a reliable tea company.

Miss Lula Hensyl, a daughter of Dr. Hensyl, who is attending school in Williamsport, was knocked down and robbed in that city of her pocket book which contained about five dollars of money, on last Friday evening.

Our borough school closed last week. An entertainment was given in Lucas hall on last Saturday night by the upper school. All the parties participating played their parts so well that it would be out of place to particularize.

Miss Amy Kline, Jos. Gardner and W. R. Leathers will teach select schools in this place this summer, W. R. Leathers teaching the higher grade.

John P. DeHaas, Jr., Wm. DeHaas and Mary DeHaas, of Curtin township, will leave the farm and move to this place on April 1st.

The hotel at this place had 87 arrivals and departures in February last. In March it had 131 arrivals and departures. The proprietor, Mr. Jacob DeHaas, has gained the reputation of sitting his guests down to the best furnished hotel table in the county, yet the Court thinks a hotel not necessary at this place.

In the matter of taking a level out of Paul Swart's tool chest, by constable Neff and John M. Long, as mentioned by your correspondent, Mr. Long took it from 'Squire Adams and sent it away. Mr. Paul Swarts demanded the level of Long and being refused brought an action of "trover and conversion" against John M. Long which action will be tried in Bellefonte on the 15th day of April.

John W. Smith says this borough will give the Prohibition amendment a majority of twenty votes. Thos Butler says the borough will give a majority of 15 against the amendment.

Unionville Items.

Delightful spring weather is now prevailing, the pee wee, blue bird and robin are happy flitting from bough to bough and the frogs are croaking in their native pools. According to a sign which has much prominence among mariners at sea the next six months will be dry and warm, the wind at 9 a. m. on March 21st. being from the Southwest, the sun at that time crossing the equinoxial line.

The public sales in this locality are about over for this spring and parties who had them may feel satisfied with the prices most articles brought. For instance, shoats weighing from 80 to 100 lbs. went for $5 to $8, last year's lambs over $6 a head and a blind horse ten years old at $55.

Many persons are building fences and small out buildings and are planting fruit and shade trees, all of which adds to the good appearence and value of property. Soon the town will be whitewashed, which will add to its already good sanitary condition.

Mrs. W K Mattern has moved to her parent's place in Halfmoon Valley.

Mr. Gorden Wyche, the genial clerk and manager at Beaver Mills, passed through town on Monday and says they will resume operations at the mills this week.

J W Hoover has bought out the stock of Wm. Resides and will move his store into the room occupied by Resides for the last year.

We are nearly ready for the constitutional election. There are but few in this locality who will not forego the pleasures of "personal liberty" for the sake of being on the side of right and reform.

A GRAND TEMPERANCE MEETING.

Excellent Music and Two Stirring Addresses in the Court House.

On Thursday evening a Gospel temperance meeting was held in the Court House. The attendance was not large, which was solely due to the fact that very few persons were aware that such a meeting was to be held. All the exercises, however, were very satisfactory.

The choir was very large, the ladies and gentleman who composed it being Misses Aikens, Speer, Pifer, Twitmire and Messrs. Blanchard Weaver and Hughes.

Mr. James Harris presided. He read a Psalm, offered a prayer and called for several of the selections of music which the choir sang so delightfully. The address of Rev. Frank Wetze', of Sioux City, Iowa, was an interesting one, evidently made from the standpoint of an individual who is a prohibitionist only because facts have convinced him that it is the true position. Sioux City is on the Nebraska border, it has 40,000 population and is peculiarly exposed to evil influences. Yet he has seen more drunkenness in two weeks in little Bellefonte than he saw in eight weeks in big Sioux City. Thus, he thinks that prohibition does prohibit. He said that perhaps a year and a half after the vote was taken in Iowa, it might then, if repeated, have been defeated, because the liquor men, by free whiskey, made it as odious as possible; but now that it has received three years trial and is enforced, nothing can again change the sentiment of the people. In only a few cities along the Illinois border are there now open saloons.

Rev. D. S. Monroe, D. D., was the next speaker and he delivered a magnificent address which it would be in vain to attempt to reproduce even partially. It showed how futile have been the efforts to make men temperate by moral suasion. The temperance societies are largely composed of persons who are themselves temperate. His remarks in reference to high license were very strong. It had caused men to be deceitful in the fact that it is represented that high license has reduced the number of saloons when such is not the fact. Only the prohibitory features of the bill have reduced the number—such as not selling to minors, old topers, on Sunday, holidays, etc. It increases the revenues, but at the same time increases taxes to a much greater degree—like putting in the barrel while it runs out at the bunghole. He read the words of the Heathen Chinese monarch who would scorn to derive revenue from the misfortunes and frailties of his subjects, while great papers like the Philadelphia Press and Times exult over the revenue produced by high license. Prohibition is the principle of all law. The first law was "In the day thou eatest of it thou shalt surely die," and so have been all the laws enacted since that time. In condemning the principle of prohibition we also condemn high license, because both are alike in principle. It is not necessary that to enforce a law there shall be a unanimous sentiment in its favor. If we had waited for public sentiment we would not yet have received the Ten Commandments. When slavery was abolished three fourths of the people favored slavery and the great sentiment against it has all grown up since that time. In closing he eloquently urged all to vote for the Amendment.

Coming to Bellefonte.

Professor W T Meyer, who is about to move to this place, will not be a stranger, because he is well known here. His coming will be hailed with pleasure by numerous friends. The following which we take from the Shamokin Dispatch of the 18th, will show how highly he was esteemed in Shamokin which was recently his home.

Professor W T Meyer and family will leave Friday for Bellefonte, Centre county, where Mr. Meyer will engage in the mercantile business.

Mr. Meyer has been a resident of town several years, and has established for himself a record anyone can be proud of. He has been prominently identified with all movements in a musical way, and the present high standing of "Our Band" is mainly due to his efforts. He was also a prominent leader of the Reformed Sunday school, and served as its superintendent. Yesterday the school by a unanimous vote extended to him a resolution of thanks for his labors in its behalf. This was a surprise to the worthy gentleman, and one which he highly appreciated. But this was not all. Last evening after church he was invited to call at the parsonage, where he found about thirty friends assembled, who tendered him an informal reception. An hour or more was spent in social conversation, and when the party adjourned they all shook hands with the professor, wishing him unlimited success in his new field, and expressing their sorrow that it was necessary to part with him.

VINEGAR BITTERS

NEW STYLE PLEASANT TASTE

The Most Perfect Medical Preparation of the Age.

The New Style Vinegar Bitters

Is of a clear, dark reddish amber color. It has a delicious taste. It is a most invigorating tonic. It is a gentle and painless, but thorough cathartic It contains no opium. It contains no poison or hurtful drug of any sort.

New Style Vinegar Bitters purifies the blood, beautifies the complexion, strengthens the nerves, muscles and brain, drives away malaria, and keeps the system so strong as to enable it to repel infectious diseases and epidemics generally.

The organs of the body most given to shirking their regular work are the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys. A medicine that stimulates these organs into healthy action without causing pain, is invaluable!

New Style Vinegar Bitters does this, and it does the work permanently. It never robs Peter to pay Paul, as alcoholic and other (so-called) remedies do. It is a most grateful, healing medicine to all who are troubled with piles, for it relieves at once, and soon cures this most painful disorder.

It aids digestion, cures constipation, headache, bilious complaints, feverishness, neuralgia, nervous diseases of every sort, and every class of skin disease known.

As a Family Medicine, for the use of ladies, children and men of sedentary habits, the New Style Vinegar Bitters has no equal in the world. It is invaluable for curing the ills that beset childhood, and gently regulates the diseases to which women at every period of life are subject.

Ladies, get a bottle from your druggist and try it. If your druggist has not the New Style Vinegar Bitters, ask him to send for it. If you once try it you will never be without this priceless remedy in the house.

Local Department.

—Did you flit?

—Did your stove pipe fit?

—The grass is looking green.

—Beware of April Fool day on the 1st.

—Shad is now said to be in the height of its glory.

—People complain that the rural roads are in bad condition.

—Now that you have March-ed this far along you can take April.

—Sunday was quarterly communion day in the Presbyterian church.

—We regret to learn that one of R M Magee's sons is ill with scarlet fever.

—Meeting for young men in new rooms of Y. M. C. A. next Sunday afternoon.

—The Glee and Banjo clubs gave an entertainment in Huntingdon on Saturday evening.

—The peach dealers in the South have forgotten to state that the trees were damaged by frost.

—Sentimental young people will hail with delight the prospect of a search for the trailing arbutus.

—The detective who tried to arrest a phonograph for uttering counterfeit notes rather exceeded his authority.

—The State College-Fleming base ball game on the 13th inst. will probably be played on the College grounds.

—On Friday afternoon a stable in Philipsburg, which was used by Calvin Smith, was entirely destroyed by fire.

—When a pretty girl turns her head to look at a young man on the street it is almost sure to turn his head completely.

—The self-closing door spring is an awful aggravation to the man who is going out of your office mad and wants to slam the door.

—The citizens of Osceola decided by a vote of 230 to 34 to have that town illuminated by electric lights. The vote was taken on March 26.

—On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the new rooms, Allegheny street.

—Rev. S. A. Cornelius lectured in Philipsburg on Thursday evening on "Shams and Shoddies." It was considered a first-class lecture.

—While it is very pleasant to have an early garden, it is foolish to needlessly expose one's self to the elements and damp ground to prepare the garden.

—March came in like a sweet, little, mild eyed lamb; now if it don't make it's, exit like an African lion and a Polar bear the weather prophets will be greatly disappointed.

—The State College base ball nine have challenged the Flemings, of this place, to play a game with them on Saturday, April 13. It is probable that the Flemings will accept the challenge.

—We only record the fact that two inches of the "beautiful" covered the ground on Sunday morning so that it may become a reliable fact in history, not because our readers are not aware of the fact.

—Landlord Bibby, who has been living at Millheim for a few years past, will take charge of the hotel at Montandon on the 1st of April. Mr. Bibby is well known in Williamsport, says the Gazette & Bulletin.

—The "flitting" scenes on Monday were worth looking it. Every sort of a vehicle was utilized for the purpose of moving, and many persons were not able to get any at all. Those who could do so postponed their flitting until later in the week.

—Marie, with the accent on the last syllable, is what they are beginning to call it. So it appears that silly affectation can't spare even the beautiful name of Mary.—Watchman. Oh, yes, it can. Mary is not accented on the last syllable, while Marie is and always has been so accented. The names are different.

—Sunday afternoon was a sort of Prohibition Amendment occasion in the Presbyterian Sabbath school. The exercises took that tendency and addresses were made by Col. D. S. Keller and D. F. Fortney, Esqs. A collection was taken for the benefit of the Prohibition fund. Here is a suggestion which it might be well for other Sunday-schools to follow.

—The new anti-bribery law in Indiana contains the provision that when an attempt is made in any way to influence the vote of a citizen, he may bring a civil suit, and, upon proving the charge, receive damages to the amount of not more than $500. A witness of an attempted bribery may bring suit and recover damages to the extent of one-half that sum.

—Some one started this item and it is going the rounds, viz., "The siz of the soda fountain is again heard in the land." We are constrained to remark, however, that the item contains a misrepresentation. It is too early for the siz of the soda fountain, as it requires warmer weather than the present to arouse the aforesaid fountain from its all-winter sleep.

A SNOW SHOE "POME."

Girls, Does it Hurt to be Hugged?—A Residence Sold—Hopkins & Weymouth's Saw mill in Operation, Etc.

One day last week we received a call
From a young widow plump and tall;
She wore a Newmarket most too small
And told us her name was Mrs. Hall.

She said through fire she lost her all
Save three children, all very small;
She used a brief with terrible gall
And asked assistance from one and all.

And now, dear reader, if you should fall
In the wake of this widow with brief and gall
Don't give her a cent at all, at all;
That widow's a fraud—she is, by goll!
That's all.

March came in like a lamb and has conducted herself like a very respectable sheep and her going out has been perfectly satisfactory.

Our old friend, T. A. Boak, formerly of Pine Glenn, has been appointed postmaster of Hughesville, Lycoming county, Pa.

Mr. John McCrary, who digs coal at Grauer & Madills mines, was seriously injured by a fall of coal last Tuesday.

W. O. Davies, of the firm of Stewart & Davies, shipped his household goods to Wilkesbarre last week and the family will start for the same place on Monday morning.

Bridget Smith and her sisters have rented the house just vacated by W. O. Davies.

The entertainment at the Grammar school Friday afternoon was well attended. The selection of dialogues and recitations was very good and the pieces were well rendered, but lack of good order made it quite difficult and unpleasant for those who took part and almost impossible for the audience to hear what they said.

Mr. Thomas Watson, who has been running a boarding house for Byers & Hopkins at Iowa for about a year, moved back to Snow Shoe again last week. He has rented the house formerly owned and occupied by Joseph Thompson.

Thomas Duey and wife attended the funeral of Mrs. Rosser, at Mill Hall, on Tuesday, the 26th. Deceased was a sister of Mrs. Duey.

Rev. J W Bedford returned from Conference on Tuesday evening. The Bishop wisely decreed that our "LONG" loved pastor should remain with us another year. In returning Mr. Bedford to this charge the M E conference virtually endorse Mr. Bedford's policy in regard to Union Sunday schools, notwithstanding the fact that many good people thought differently.

Robert Gilland and wife drove to Lacounte's Mills on Tuesday morning, to visit Mrs. Gilland's father, who is very poorly and not expected to survive his present illness.

Willie Hartzell received a very tight squeeze between the wagon wheel and the shed one day last week. Willie can imagine how his girl feels when he hugs her too hard.

Dr. James Thompson has sold his handsome residence to the Lehigh Valley Coal Company. Consideration twenty-three hundred and fifty dollars ($2350.00). The Doctor and his wife are busily engaged packing up their household goods. They will move to the farm of Mrs. Thompson's father near Martha Furnace.

Miss Kate Murray, of Bellefonte, is visiting her Snow Shoe friends.

There is a young man from Gillentown
Who believes in doing things up "Brown,"
And walks with the girl that he admires
No matter how much "shanks" horse tires.

Mrs. Alexander, a charming widow who has been visiting her friends at Clearfield, returned to Snow Shoe Saturday. She will spend the Summer with her sister Mrs. C M Shunkweiler.

Mr. Michael Shank started for Westmoreland county on Tuesday morning, where he has the promise of steady work at good wages.

A wedding took place on Wednesday, the 27th, at the residence of Mrs. Etters at Pine Glenn. Her daughter, Miss Carrie, was married to Mr. Claude Thompson, of Snow Shoe. Joseph Smith, Esq., tied the nuptial knot.

Hopkins & Weymouth's saw mill started up on Monday. They employ a large force of men, and the event will give quite an impetus to the business interests of Snow Shoe.

Our justice of the peace was kept quite busy the past week, with the pit-a-pat of his shoe hammer, performing wedding ceremonies and administering justice generally. One case before the Squire was that of Mrs. Besterman vs. John Batterby, charged with assault and battery. Mr. Batterby entered bail for his appearence at the next term of court, Wm. Shunkweiler becoming his bondsman. Another case was that of James Gates vs. Sugar Camp. Ever since P B Crider & Son quit operations at Sugar Camp the old saw mill and adjoining sheds have been considered almost public plunder, nearly everyone carrying off pieces of boards or lumber in broad day light, until nothing was left but the bare frame and roof, which was sold to James Gates. Eight persons, in all, were arrested and it cost them about $6 each. To raise this amount was very hard for some of them, and if their friends had not loaned them the money they would have been obliged to go to jail.

—The Bellefonte Social Club have procured two extremely handsome carpets for their rooms. We saw them on Saturday. They are of the richest Axminster, are heavier and thicker than the largest plank and are rich in pattern. No footfall gives back the sound when treading these carpets, while the luxurious comfort will suggest to the visitor the propriety of tarrying there forever. These carpets are fabulously expensive.

It is Generally Supposed.

That the new moon will bring warm weather.

That April has a tear in her eye.

That the average young man can now devote himself to thoughts of love.

That Easter bonnets will come high.

That business should be 50 per cent better than it was as four months ago.

That it is the duty of Congress to legislate in such a way as to stop the awful crime of importing pauper laborers.

That much fish is eaten in Lent.

That Sternbergs sold nearly 300 shad last week.

That laborer's wages should be 50 per cent higher than at present.

That to ensure prosperous times there should be $2,700,000,000 in circulation in this country—$45 per head.

That all good people should favor the Prohibition Amendment.

That the Amendment should receive 200,000 majority in the State.

That the crowning inconvenience of moving will be the putting up of the stove pipe.

That the reason people move is because they want to improve their household arrangements and usually discover that they have made a mistake.

That when the subscriber sends a postal card to "ye editor" stating that he has flitted he should state his former as well as his present post office.

That this paper has some subscribers who always pay a year in advance.

The Young Men's Orchestra.

The new orchestra, composed of a company of the young men of this place, which is now coming to the front as a more than ordinarily excellent musical organization, is made up as follows: Charles Moore, leader, first violin; W B Young, musical director, first cornet; Frank Lukenbach, second violin; W I Lembkey, second cornet; Charles Wright, flute; Roy Mattern, 'cello; Christy Smith, bass viol; Charles Cruse, pianist.

The members of this orchestra have devoted themselves regularly and carefully to practice. Each one of them has a special taste for music and enters with the earnestness of the true artist into the execution. The result was apparent on Sunday. There was a harmonious action and skill which cannot fail to achieve the most valuable effects and which produced a most excellent impression. It is now an orchestra in which our citizens have reason to take much pride.

We congratulate the members on what they have done and are capable of doing. No art is more useful or powerful in its influences than music and its skillful rendering is an accomplishment the attainment of which is greatly to be desired by anyone who would be useful in the world.

—To-day Miss Lillie Barrett severs her connection with the Telephone Exchange and enters the office of the Centre Iron Company. Miss B will be succeeded by Miss Maggie Rodgers who thoroughly understands the telephone business, having had a great deal of experience in the Bellefonte Exchange. On the 15th of April Miss Mattern will leave the Bellefonte Exchange to go to Baltimore where she accepts a similar position in that city. Miss Lide Furey is rapidly learning the Telephone business, and by the 15th will be prepared to fill Miss Mattern's place. The numerous friends of the retiring young ladies will be sorry to part with them and may telephone their regrets. Soon the wires will echo to the sound of new voices. They will tell the same old story, but we doubt not that it will be as sweet as it used to be.

Proposed new Lien Law.

Be it enacted, etc., that hereafter no county, city, borough, township or school tax, levied or assessed, shall remain a lien on real estate for a longer period than two years from the time of such levy or assessment, unless the same be entered on record in the Prothonotary's office of the proper county in which such real estate is situated, and no lien so entered therefor, or for any municipal improvement claim, shall remain a lien thereon for a longer period than five years from the date of such entry, unless the same be revived and continued by writ of scire facias within said period and duly prosecuted to judgment as in the case of judgment liens.

—Rev. J. H. Hector of York, Pa., spoke on Saturday evening and twice on Sunday in Philipsburg on the Prohibition Amendment question. His addresses are said to have been the most powerful on that subject heard in Philipsburg. In speaking of high license, Mr. Hector said it was most appropriately named as it is a lie-in-every-sense.

Death of a Young Lady.

Miss Mary Mann, a daughter of Mr. Robert Mann, of Curtin township, died on Tuesday evening and will be buried this morning at 11 o'clock.

—Powdered hair is again fashionable.

A PROSPEROUS BUSINESS CAREER.

The Gradual Growth and Present Greatness of Mr. James Schofield's Harness Establishment—In the Same Location Eighteen Years—The Largest Stock in Central Pennsylvania.

It is indeed pleasant at this time to call attention to Mr. James Schofield's vast and constantly increasing harness manufacturing establishment. Eighteen years ago Mr. Schofield came to Bellefonte and started in business in a modest way. He was the possessor of two essential requisites to success—perfect mastery of his trade and consummate business tact which found expression in his over-mastering determination to succeed at the expense of any honorable means. How well he has attained the goal of his ambition is well exemplified in the mammoth establishment on Spring street, which to-day will compare favorably with any similar establishment in Pennsylvania.

James is of that forcible and striking character that quickly makes an impression upon all, and as he became known far and wide so this substantial and elegant harness which he made grew in favor His modest shop on Spring street became the Mecca to which all in quest of that article wended their way. It became necessary for him to add to his stock and he has done so through all these eighteen years until now his establishment extends through all of the first floor of the large building on Spring street where J. A. Harper & Co's store recently was located.

When we spoke to Mr. S. this morning and said something about monopoly, he elevated his impressive fore finger and said that he was opposed to monopolies of all sorts, but his present enlargement was a necessity forced upon him, but which nevertheless is welcome and, said he, "The cheap advertising I have received has doubtless been a factor in helping me along."

To show how extended is the reputation of Mr. Schofield's harness, he recently received a letter from California ordering harness. The writer took occasion to say that the product of his skill was far superior to any that can be obtained in the Golden State. He recently purchased the harness stock of Brown & Potter on Bishop street and has now consolidated the two stocks. A visit to his establishment will please all who are interested in anything relating to that line. His collection of collars, bridles, curry combs, brushes, sponges, chamois skins, whips, etc., exceeds anything of the sort in this part of the State. In whips alone he can show $200 worth of all varieties.

In his long and varied experience Mr. Schofield has never had occasion to dispute more than a half dozen bills and has not been compelled to collect money by law on more than two occasions. At present he has three men constantly employed and gives his individual attention to all the details. Let every former and present patron and all others who like skill and enthusiasm in business call on him at his harness establishment on Spring street. Farmers and business men are invited.

Knocked out by the Elements.

There was a desperate battle at the island of Samoa, of which authentic news has just reached this country. The German, American and English warships congregated there were attacked by a powerful enemy and despite whatever resistance could be made, they were nearly all destroyed. The Americans and the Germans each lost two war ships—the former 60 men and the latter 96. The United States loses the Trenton and Vandalia, with the others perhaps damaged beyond repair. The British man of war put out to sea and escaped.

This was all accomplished by a great hurricane, which laughed at the puny resistance of the much-vaunted warships just as it laughed at the Spanish Armada centuries ago. Thus, present war is averted in that locality, and it is not likely that either Germany or the United States will consider the island of Samoa worth a repetition of such warlike preparations.

A Pleasant Visitor in Town.

The much respected and experienced Mr. John S. Foster, of State College, is in Bellefonte this week, attending court as a juror. Mr. Foster is a retired farmer and has very extensive information on all subjects. His experience during early life has given him a fund of information to which it is pleasant to listen. He traveled extensively and was in Texas before that state became a part of the Union. He remembers seeing the first train which ran over the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Foster's experience as a farmer leads him to study agriculture quite closely and he is not only theoretical in this line, but also eminently practical. We hope he will enjoy his stay in town. He is a staunch Republican and a friend of the Prohibition Amendment.

—The hearing on the writ of habeas corpus in the case of David and Joseph Nicely and Collins Hamilton, charged with the murder of Herman Umberger in Somerset county, came off Friday. No additional evidence was produced, but the testimony of the parties who saw the Nicely brothers going towards Umbergers on the evening of the murder, coupled with the positive identification of the men and their wearing apparel by the inmates of the house, was sufficient to hold the Nicely boys.

Personal Pencilings.

Rev. B. B. Hamlin, the new presiding elder, will locate in Tyrone.

Mr. Frank Tingle, of Philipsburg, is visiting his Bellefonte friends.

Rev. Father Seibert, of Lock Haven, spent Wednesday, in Bellefonte.

Mr. William Lyon was in Council meeting Monday evening as a visitor.

Mr. Emanuel Ettinger, of Aaronsburg, is so ill that his condition is precarious.

Mrs. Geo. L. Tibbens of Houtzdale, is at present visiting her relatives in this place.

Thomas Kergan, who lived six miles west of Newry, recently, died at the age of 108.

Rev. Mr. Trostle preached for the Lutherans in Y. M. C. A. hall on Sunday evening.

Editor P. G. Meek is building a new fence around his property west of the railroad.

Mrs. Cyrus Weaver is at home again after a pleasant visit of about six weeks, in Harrisburg.

Mr. Nicholas Redding, of Gettysburg and formerly of this place, is now visiting his friends here.

Rev. Mr. Hayden, pastor of the Christian church, after several weeks absence, is at home again.

The presence of Miss Minnie Brew in Tyrone is noted. She is the guest of her brother, H. C. Brew.

Mr. George E. Rider, heretofore farming near Bellefonte, has moved to within two miles of Lemont.

Mr. and Mrs. McKee have rented Mr. H. K. Hicks' residence on Linn street and will soon move into it.

Mr. Augustus Hoover and family are now occupying one of their own pretty dwelling houses on East Curtin street.

Mr. Edward Pletcher, of Howard, visited Bellefonte on Tuesday. He is now teaching school at Westport, Clinton county.

Willie Buck spent Thursday in Tyrone. He says they are ahead of Bellefonte. The kids up there are playing marbles already.

Misses Hoy and Wable, the attractive school teachers at Curtin station, were arrivals in Bellefonte on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Huyett who owns two saw mills in Brush Valley has recently transferred his place of abode from Centre Hall to Rebersburg.

John Banister Gibson Kinsloe is anxiously awaiting the decision of President Cleveland which will give him the Lock Haven post office.

Rev. Mr. Houck, the new pastor of the Methodist church, will arrive here on Thursday next, the day of Rev. Dr. Monroe's departure.

Mrs. Lane, mother of Messrs. John and James. Lane, arrived here on Friday evening and is visiting at the home of the former on Linn street.

Mr. Peter Shuey, of Three Runs, Pa., is at present in Bellefonte. He informs us that his mother, who has been ill for several weeks, is now slightly improving.

Mrs. J V Thomas, her accomplished daughter, Miss Lide Thomas, and Miss Jane Harris are at present visiting friends in New Jersey, starting from here on Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Hicks, formerly of Bellefonte and now of Philadelphia, are at present in Bellefonte, occupying their house on Linn street. They expect to remain only about a week.

Rev. W. R. Whitney officiated at the funeral of the late Mr. Isaac Gray, which occurred at Half Moon on Sunday. Rev. Whitney is about departing for his new charge in Montoursville, Pa.

Mr. Stott of the Nail Works, has moved his household goods into Dr. E. W. Hale's stone house on Allegheny street, north of the Doctor's residence, where Mr. Stott and family will hereafter reside.

—Mr. Potts and his accomplished daughters are having very handsome repairs made to their residence (the mansion recently occupied by Mrs. T. R. Reynolds) and expect to occupy it the latter part of this week.

Mr. J. M. Wite, organizer for the Ancient Order of United Workmen, departed from Bellefonte on last Friday after a brief stay. A Lodge of the order will be instituted here in about three weeks. The next convention of the order will assemble in Williamsport.

Robert S. Barker, the tall ex-Mayor of Lock Haven, has been appointed postmaster, and our friend Kinsloe is feeling sad because he was not selected. He need not mourn, however, for it is better to be editor of a good newspaper than to be the master of fifty big post-offices.

W. E. Ellenberger and family have moved into their new house on Cameron street. They will have a cozy home and we hope will like our town. Mr. Ellenberger and wife have been residents of Half Moon Valley and being good citizens there and prominent members as well as hard workers for all that is best for any community we know they will find friends and be warmly welcomed to Tyrone.—Tyrone Daily Herald.

ALL THERE.

Every Member of Council in his Place—No Expenses Incurred—Reports of Committees—Cannot tax Local Expressmen, Etc.

There are only nine members of council and all of the nine were in place on Monday evening. This is just the number necessary to play base ball, but they were not there for that purpose. They transacted necessary business and Clerk Mitchell acted as umpire.

Quite a number of citizens were present, of both sexes. A few petitions of merit were received for relief from tax and were referred to the finance committee. Harry Baney in the interest of the laying of water pipes along what is known as the extension of East High street, presented that object. The council declined to lay the pipe. He also complained of a nuisance, which was referred to the Nuisance Committee with power to act. The statement made by Mr. Johnny Colwell of needed repairs on Beaver street was placed in the hands of Street Committee.

The Street Committee reported several repairs. The wall under the bridge over the mill race fell down and was rebuilt; also replaced stone in bridge next the Watchman office. Report progress on the arrangements for boardwalk on Reynolds avenue.

The Fire and Police Committee, through Mr. Hillibish, reported that the new police officers are on duty and are serving satisfactorily. The fire alarm is out of repair and cannot be kept in proper order unless it is tried each day. It was ordered that the valve be opened each day at 6 o'clock p. m.

The Nuisance Committee reported that a pile of rubbish which constitutes a nuisance and is complained of exists on Smith street.

The Water Committee says that there is plenty of the necessary liquid, furnished however only at the expense of keeping the pumps at work all the time. The proposed improvements and enlargement of the reservoir are postponed.

The amount now due the Treasurer from the borough exceeds $2500. An interesting opinion by the borough attorney printed below was here read by the clerk.

Mr. George Weaver was re-elected water assessor.

The reservoir was ordered to be cleaned and two hydrants on Ridge street to be removed if they are a nuisance. We publish the solicitor's opinion on the request to impose a

TAX ON OUT-OF-TOWN LOCAL EXPRESSMEN.

To the Council of the Borough of Bellefonte; Gentlemen: Your inquiry as to the legality of a proposed ordinance, authorizing the assessment and collection of a license fee from the drivers of teams, hacks, drays, &c., has been received. In answer, I would say that such an ordinance would be illegal and void, and its provisions could not, under any circumstances, be enforced. I can do no better than to quote the identical words of the Supreme Court, in the recent case of the Borough of Millerstown vs. Bell et al, 23d "Weekly Notes of Cases," decided January 7, 1889, viz., "The general powers conferred upon boroughs, under the borough act of April 3, 1851, to make such laws, ordinances, by laws and regulations, not inconsistent with the laws of this Commonwealth, as they shall deem necessary for the good order and government of the borough, must be confined to the particular subjects referred to in said Act. A borough ordinance requiring the owners or drivers of teams, hacks, carriages or any other vehicles * * * * for which they receive any compensation whatever, to take out an annual license and to pay therefor certain fees, is not expressly authorized by the borough act of April 3, 1851, nor does it come within the police power conferred upon the borough by the said act, and the said ordinance would be illegal and void."

In the face of this decision, it would be idle for the council to direct the framing of an ordinance, to adopt and attempt to enforce the same, when the Court would be obliged to declare the same illegal and void if brought before it.

Respectfully,
CLEMENT DALE,
Solicitor.

A New Enterprise.

We are informed that there is a new company negotiating for the lime stone land on the Armor property. The ledge is the same as is now worked by A. G. Morris & McCalmont & Co., of this place. If they succeed in purchasing they expect to do business on a large scale. The supply is inexhaustible and without cover, extending through the entire farm from west to east about a half mile and rising over 200 feet above the run. This is far more extensive than any other ledge in this vicinity. It is also superlatively rich in lime, averaging from 97 to 99 per cent. When it is known that ledges of from 65 to 75 per cent richness can be advantageously worked the prospects for profitable operations here can be estimated. The lime is the best in the world.

MARRIED.

YOUNG—LONG.—In Bellefonte, Pa., on Tuesday, April 2, 1889, by Rev. J. P. Hughes, Mr. Andrew B. Young and Ida May Long, both of this place. The groom is a printer having worked at the Gazette office and also in the Republican office. We wish the bride and groom much joy.
